Hints Awaited For Relations With DeGaulle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson travels the last miles with John F. Kennedy today—and then sets his own course in meetings with a massive array of world statesmen. Everyone watched for clues as to how Johnson would get along with President Charles de Gaulle of France. De Gaulle differed from Kennedy on such great questions as NATO, the European Common Market, and the French government's insistence on its own nuclear force.

Whether Johnson, noted as a master persuader when he was the Democratic leader of the Senate, would get together with de Gaulle on an in-depth discussion of world affairs was not yet certain. But the possibility remained.

First came the sad task of accompanying the martyred President Kennedy's body to the grave. Part of the journey was to be afoot, from the White House to St. Matthews Cathedral for the requiem mass, then by car to Arlington National Cemetery.

Thousands Wait To Pay Homage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands upon thousands of persons braved long hours in freezing weather to file past the casket of John F. Kennedy in the Capitol rotunda. Other thousands waited without success.

Charles J. Sullivan, chief of Capitol police, estimated 240,000 had moved past the bier of the slain President when the doors were closed to the public at 8:30 a.m.

At least 2,000 others, still waiting in a line stretching blocks away, were left stranded after standing for six to seven hours. Police steered them to vantage points around the Capitol plaza from which they could see the funeral procession leave for the White House.

The steady shuffle of feet had continued without a break from 3 p.m. Sunday through the afternoon and night as the crowds waited patiently for a chance to pay their last respects.

Former Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon were among the last to be admitted, along with a small group of officials' families and others, after the waiting line was halted.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald may have left behind in death a blueprint for the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Oswald was slain Sunday by Jack Ruby, 32, a night club owner and self-appointed executioner, who undertook swift, savage reprisal for the Kennedy murder.

Hours later, the Dallas Morning News, in a copyrighted story, said police officers who searched Oswald's room found a map with a line on it marking the path of the bullet that killed the President during a motorcade Friday. Neither the FBI nor the Secret Service would comment on the news report.

The newspaper quoted what it termed a reliable source as saying:

"This was a map of the City of Dallas. Oswald had placed marks at major intersections along the motorcade route — three or four as I recall. There was also a line from the Texas School Book Depository Building to Elm Street. This was the trajectory of the bullets which struck the President and Gov. (John) Connally."

The map may have constituted what police termed "major evidence" against Oswald in Kennedy's assassination, but which they had refused to reveal.

The News said officers theorized Oswald marked spots on the map from which a sniper could get a good shot at the Kennedy motorcade.

Meanwhile, from Mexico City came another report—this time that Oswald visited the Soviet and Cuban consuls in September and tried to get a visa.

The newspaper Excelsior attributed its report to a high official source which it did not name.

Oswald died Sunday with a single bullet wound in the side.

Ohio Notes Legal Holiday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has proclaimed today a legal holiday in Ohio in view of national and state mourning decrees for the late President.

The governor's proclamation permits all state banks and financial institutions in Ohio to close.

In another development, Col. Raymond F. Clouse, the state Selective Service Director, announced that any men ordered to report for physical examination or induction today are excused.

They will, however, be required to report at the same time Tuesday. Col. Clouse also announced that all other physical exams and inductions scheduled this week remain the same.

It was an incredible climax to the wildest weekend in Dallas history—a savage, sudden moment of raw drama that was caught by national television networks and broadcast with shocking impact into American living rooms.

Rest in Peace

A saddened Circleville and Pickaway County spiritually participated in today's solemn vows that accompanied the burial of President John F. Kennedy.

Thousands in Washington D. C. and millions throughout the world paid their final respects to the dead chief of state. This community did the same.

Special services were conducted countywide yesterday and today. Many ministers incorporated the tragic death into their sermons yesterday and planned additional periods of prayer today.

Most city and county offices closed today and many business firms shut their doors for the entire day or during the actual period of burial services in Washington D. C.

Though citizens of this community could not be present for the actual services, their prayers were expressed with the same sincerity and deep feeling as if they had been surely standing in the great halls of St. Matthew's Cathedral or on the inspiring slopes of Arlington National Cemetery.

Many churches in Circleville and Pickaway County held special services honoring the memory of the late President.

IFK's Father Is at Home

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy grieved in the privacy of his summer home today as the rest of the nation paid final homage to his slain son.

Although pronounced fit to travel, the 75-year-old Kennedy elected to remain. His niece, Ann Gargan, and the Rev. John Cavanaugh, long-time friend and president emeritus of the University of Notre Dame, were with him.

Dr. Russell S. Boles, Boston neurologist, said the former ambassador displayed "tremendous courage" upon learning Saturday of his son's assassination. The family waited 21 hours after John F. Kennedy died before telling his father.

Kennedy suffered a stroke two years ago and has been confined to a wheelchair since.

Crowds Gather In Chilly Dawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long before dawn today, the first sprinkling of the crowd began to gather along the streets for the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Some huddled in blankets against the 35-degree chill, and found positions near St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral for the requiem mass still many hours away.

chiefs of staff and the commandants of the Marine Corps and Coast Guard, clergymen of the three major faiths, and a company of Navy enlisted men, who marched in memory of the young Navy lieutenant and war hero who became their commander in chief.

John F. Kennedy's final ascent up the broad Capitol steps he had once climbed as a young congressman and senator and then as the youngest man ever elected president were marked by the distant booming of a 21-gun salute and the slow strains of a service band playing "Hail to the Chief."

Erect and staring straight ahead, Mrs. Kennedy followed the casket up the steps, leading the children by the hand.

As Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Chief Justice Earl Warren and House Speaker John McCormack intoned the eulogies over the public address system, the crowd began forming itself into a long line, waiting its turn to move into the rotunda and file past the flag-draped coffin.

It was the same spontaneity of affection that had caused thousands to break through the police barriers and join in line behind the funeral cortege as it moved down Pennsylvania Avenue. Nothing like it had ever happened before at a presidential funeral.

A FAMILY'S GRIEF — No words are needed — their faces tell the story — as the widowed First Lady and her two children, Caroline and John Jr., wait for the late President's body to be put on the caisson for the start of the final procession to the Capitol.

Mrs. Kennedy Returns Second Time to Rotunda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy went back for a second look at her husband's casket in the Capitol rotunda and pleading, "Let me walk, let me walk," mingled with crowds that mourned the slain President.

The 34-year-old widow of President Kennedy seemed reluctant to leave his casket.

With her two children, she had come in a funeral procession Sunday to leave the President's body to lie in state in the Capitol for public viewing by many thousands.

Mrs. Kennedy, with her daughter Caroline beside her, had knelt and kissed the casket before she departed about 2:30 p.m.

Unexpectedly, she was back about 9 o'clock Sunday night, on the arm of her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, as long lines of people waited to pass the resident's bier.

She walked slowly by the ropes keeping the public from the casket area and once again knelt and kissed the coffin.

Until she had left it at the Capitol, Mrs. Kennedy had remained near her husband's body since he was slain in Dallas Friday afternoon.

On her sudden nighttime re-appearance, the slow-moving crowd came to a halt. When Mrs. Kennedy rose, she turned her tear-stained face and looked for a long moment at the faces of those who came to pay their respects to her late husband.

As she and the attorney general left, Mrs. Kennedy seemed to look searchingly at the faces of the incoming throng.

"Let me walk, let me walk," she said as they descended the Capitol steps. At first Mrs. Kennedy went unrecognized, but soon she was discovered and some followed after her party of police and Secret Service agents.

It was learned Mrs. Kennedy personally had decided on many of the details of the presidential funeral, including the decision that the mourners would walk some eight blocks from the White House as was done at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln, the president slain almost 100 years ago.

U.S. President Paid Reverent Final Farewell

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sorrowing nation — and statesmen from around the globe — said farewell to the martyred 35th President today and commended to God the soul "of thy servant John."

Hundreds of thousands, many of them weeping, watched as Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widowed so young, followed the caisson, part of the way on foot.

Bravely she walked, between Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy on her right and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on her left. A black veil covered her face and draped her shoulders.

The new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, and his wife Lady Bird walked behind the Kennedys.

At the great stone steps of St. Matthew's Cathedral — scene of the Requiem Mass, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston awaited her, his tall mitre shining in the crisp autumn air.

By then, Jacqueline Kennedy had beside her her two small children, Caroline and John, dressed in blue, who had ridden to the great church. The Cardinal leaned over and laid his hands on their shoulders, as if in blessing.

A few ranks behind Mrs. Kennedy strode one of the greatest assemblages of world statesmen ever seen. They came from 53 countries and included 26 heads of state or government.

Towering above them all was the figure of President Charles de Gaulle of France, in his olive drab uniform.

Quietly, behind Mrs. Kennedy, the great from abroad filed into the cathedral. There was Prince Philip of Britain, husband of Queen Elizabeth; Queen Frederika of Greece, and many others who had come from thousands of miles.

Behind them came the U. S. Supreme Court, the Cabinet, federal officials, White House staff-men.

The broad streets were lined by hundreds of thousands of people, many of them weeping, as the flag-draped coffin drawn by six white horses went by.

After it came the young widow, Jacqueline, a black veil shielding her face and draping her shoulders. For the first stage of the slow, sad journey she rode in a black limousine.

At the Capitol, 240,000 persons filed past the bier before the funeral procession.

The great copper dome of St. Matthew's Cathedral blue-green from decades of weathering, glistened in a crisp, clear day as the cortege approached it for the requiem Mass.

As the procession came by the White House on the way to the cathedral the Marine band played a dirge. Earlier, the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" had filled the air.

Along with the 34-year-old widow of the fallen chief executive, and sorrowing with her, went one of the greatest arrays of world statesmen ever assembled—26 as heads of state or government.

Before the caisson was placed on the caisson at the Capitol, Mrs. Kennedy had knelt before it and prayed briefly.

Then, as the coffin was carried from the catafalque, there was a roll of ruffles and flourishes.

"O God of Loveliness," a band played, and the procession began, to the measured cadences of muffled drums and a mournful dirge.

A bell tolled as the cortege approached the White House. It reached there at 11:35 a.m., while church bells tolled mournfully.

Then at the White House, Jacqueline Kennedy set out on foot, leading the procession to the cathedral.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy clutched Mrs. Kennedy's hand as they walked out the northwest gate of the White House.

President and Mrs. Johnson walked behind a line of members of the immediate family who followed Mrs. Kennedy.

French President Charles de Gaulle was close behind, leading the foreign leaders.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and others also were in the walking procession.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen headed a group from Congress.

GI Widow Gets Threat In Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — "Oh, it's just awful and sickening," said an Atlanta widow, Mrs. Jack Kirksey, describing a threatening telephone call she received because she was a friend of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Police are guarding her home.

Mrs. Kirksey's husband was killed aboard PT109 Aug. 1, 1943, at the same time Kennedy was injured.

As captain of the craft, it was Kennedy's duty to inform Mrs. Kirksey of her husband's death. He kept in touch with her and contributed to her son's education.

She said that the telephone rang Saturday night and a man's voice asked:

"Are you the Kirksey connected with the Kennedy's?"

She said she was and quoted the man as saying: "So you're a nigger-lover too. You'd better stay behind locked doors. We'll deal with you later."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first two letters Lyndon B. Johnson signed as President were to the two children whose father is buried today.

Johnson wrote them last Friday just after his return from Texas and only hours after he had been sworn in to succeed their slain father in the highest office of the nation.

Fire Victims Identified

63 Elderly Die In Fitchville Home

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—The Huron County sheriff's office said identification was completed today on the last five bodies of the 63 elderly patients who died in a fire at the Golden Age Nursing Home near Fitchville.

Experts continued, meanwhile, probing the rubble at the home 15 miles southeast of here for the cause of the blaze.

Making his second visit to the scene of the pre-dawn fire Saturday that destroyed the one-story concrete block building, Gov. James A. Rhodes talked with local officials Sunday and pledged "an all-out, intense investigation" by the State Fire Marshal's Office and the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The governor also visited Fisher-Titus Memorial Hospital in Norwalk, where five of the survivors still were confined.

The last missing body, identified as Andrew Paulus 77, of Cleveland, was recovered from the gutted building as dozens of investigators searched the ruins for clues. A crane and several bulldozers were used to move the heavy debris.

Twenty-one patients and the three nurses on duty when the fire broke out were rescued in the nation's worst fire tragedy since 95 persons lost their lives in a Chicago school fire in 1958.

Mrs. Ruth Shepherd, manager of the home, spent an hour at the temporary morgue in the Fitchville Elementary School Sunday assisting in identifying bodies.

Only 29 bodies had been claimed by relatives late Sunday and the remaining 34 were taken to the Fitchville American Legion Home. Dr. Holman said all unclaimed bodies would be distributed to funeral homes in the area at noon today for burial arrangements.

Would they have come, dozens were asked, if they had known how long it would take. Of course, they replied. "He was our President."

As Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Chief Justice Earl Warren and House Speaker John McCormack intoned the eulogies over the public address system, the crowd began forming itself into a long line, waiting its turn to move into the rotunda and file past the flag-draped coffin.

It was the same spontaneity of affection that had caused thousands to break through the police barriers and join in line behind the funeral cortege as it moved down Pennsylvania Avenue. Nothing like it had ever happened before at a presidential funeral.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mournful beat of muffled drums. The slow clip clop of the horse caisson moving down Pennsylvania Avenue. Caroline and John pressing their faces against the back window of the slow rolling limousine. The silent staring masses shuffling past the flag-draped coffin in the great rotunda of the Capitol.

Tragic and unforgettable, these images of grief shimmer in the air today as the nation observes a day of solemn mourning to mark the funeral of its assassinated leader, John F. Kennedy.

Down an avenue of stilled sobs and open tears, he had passed Sunday on his final journey from the White House to the Capitol, retracing in reverse the route he traveled on the occasion of his triumphant inaugural less than three years before.

A crowd of 300,000, packed tight to the building line along the famous street, doffed their caps and bowed their heads as the black draped caisson, pulled by six white horses and led by a seventh, rolled in stately procession along the mile-long route.

Just behind pranced the riderless horse, symbol of the slain warrior, with its pair of empty cavalry boots reversed in the stirrups and a saber in a silver scabbard swinging from its saddle. Led by a military man, a company of Navy enlisted men, who marched in memory of the young Navy lieutenant and war hero who became their commander in chief.

John F. Kennedy's final ascent up the broad Capitol steps he had once climbed as a young congressman and senator and then as the youngest man ever elected president were marked by the distant booming of a 21-gun salute and the slow strains of a service band playing "Hail to the Chief."

Anti-Oswald Evidence Is Claimed Conclusive

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "This is it—I've sent men to the electric chair on less evidence than we have against Lee Harvey Oswald."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade made the claim as he revealed the evidence which convinced Dallas officers they had an airtight case against the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Oswald was the killer," Wade said.

Nine hours before Wade spoke to newsmen Sunday night, Oswald, 24, was fatally shot by Jack Ruby, owner of a Dallas lounge. The shooting occurred in the police headquarters basement in front of hundreds of police, Secret Service, FBI men and newsmen, as Oswald was being escorted to an armored car for transportation to new jail quarters.

Not long after Wade finished describing what he said was all the evidence against Oswald, the Dallas Morning News said in a copyrighted story that officers had found a map in Oswald's room which marked the path of the bullets which killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally Friday afternoon. Wade had made no mention of this.

The newspaper said the map outlined Kennedy's motorcade route, and a line was drawn from the Texas School Book Depository building to Elm Street, where the President and Connally were shot.

This afternoon, Wade confirmed that such a map had been found in Oswald's room.

Wade said two facts stood high in the mass of evidence linking the slim, brown-haired Oswald to the slaying.

First, a palm print on the underside of the rifle which fired the bullets that killed Kennedy was identified as Oswald.

Secondly, Wade said, Oswald had definitely been placed inside the building at the time shots were fired from there at Kennedy.

"The gun was here, his prints were on the gun, the gun was the gun that killed Kennedy, his palm prints were on the box on which the killer sat, and witnesses put him on the sixth floor at the time of the shooting."

He said Oswald bought the Italian-made assassination rifle in March from a Chicago mail order firm, at a cost of slightly more than $12. The FBI, he said, confirmed the serial number of the mail order rifle matched that of the rifle that fired the shots at Kennedy.

Wade also said three ejected shells, of an odd caliber that came from the assassination rifle found on the floor, were located near the box at the ambush window where a palm print of Oswald's was impressed.

Rest in Peace

Flags in Circleville were either flown at half mast or were draped with black. Most conspicuous were those gently flowing in the breeze at Court and Main Sts.

Most members of the Retail Merchants Division of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce closed their businesses today while others were closed for a two-hour period at noon during the Requiem Mass for the late President John F. Kennedy.

Schools, local government offices, banks and other financial institutions were also among the many closing their doors today for the solemn funeral services.

All local businesses closed today announced that regular hours will be resumed tomorrow.

Among the many ironies that have cropped up since President John F. Kennedy's tragic death last Friday is one on the local scene. Many will recall the limousine, assumed to be the President's, stopped in Circleville in 1961 for a short time.

The shiny, sleek Continental, easily identified by the President's Seal on the inside of it, stopped on W. Main St. while its driver ate his breakfast here. It is thought to be the same car in which the president was riding when killed in Dallas, Tex., on Friday.

The auto, manufactured in Detroit, was later custombuilt in Cincinnati. Many feel it is the same one which passed through this city. The man driving it at the time refused to confirm or deny it was the Presidential car.

Deaths

MR. NEVIN C. WAGNER

Mr. Nevin C. Wagner, 77, Route 4, died 11 p. m. Saturday in the Circleville Home and Hospital.

He was born May 8, 1886, in Ross County, the son of James and Susan Hettinger Wagner. His widow, Gertrude Stonerock Wagner, survives.

Mr. Wagner was a Walnut Twp. farmer.

Also surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Charles T. Carle, 816 S. Court St.; one son, Robert, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; three grandchildren; one brother, Oliver, Circleville; and one sister, Mrs. Edna O'Hara, Circleville.

Services will be 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Defenbaugh Funeral home with the Rev. Henry Walters officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p. m. today.

Wellston Man Wrecks Auto

Elmer Patton Jr. of Wellston lost control of his auto on a straight stretch of the Circleville-Groveport Road just north of Route 752 early yesterday morning and wrecked his auto.

Receiving abrasions of the head and face, he was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Warren Straly cited Patton for reckless operation. The Pickaway County officer reported that Patton apparently fell asleep while returning home.

Gas Tax Money Is Distributed

Pickaway County received $12,000 in the November distribution of $2,820,000 in gasoline taxes to Ohio counties and townships according to a release from State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

The revenues distributed to county auditors will be re-distributed to various townships of individual counties.

Neighboring counties received the following totals: Fairfield, $10,400; Fayette, $8,000; and Ross, $12,800.

New President Has 2 Dominant Qualities — Energy and Focus

EDITOR'S NOTE—To Lyndon Baines Johnson, the presidency of the United States came suddenly and shockingly on a sunny afternoon last week. But for most of his life had been preparing for leadership. In the first of three articles spotlighting the new President, Reiman Morin, Associated Press' Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, relates how a telephone call on July 14, 1960, summoned the Texas senator to become the Democratic candidate for vice president — a call that led him to the nation's highest office.

By REIMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — At 8 o'clock on the morning of July 14, 1960, a ringing telephone summoned Lyndon Baines Johnson to his moment of destiny.

The call came from John F. Kennedy. A day earlier, Kennedy had defeated Johnson for the Democratic nomination for president. Now he said he wanted to talk with Johnson, but he didn't say why.

Two hours later, in Suite 7334, the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Kennedy asked Johnson to take second place on the ticket.

The vice presidency? Second place? Johnson is a proud, dynamic, driving man.

Moreover, as Senate majority leader—and an incredibly successful one—he commanded enormous power, far greater than that invested in the office of vice president.

"Once there were two brothers," said Thomas R. Marshall, vice president to Woodrow Wilson. "One ran away to sea, the other was elected vice president, and nothing was ever heard of either of them again."

But Johnson arouses strong loyalties in others, and he gives his in full measure.

His own chances for the presidency were gone. If Kennedy won, the opportunity probably would not return again until 1968, when he would be 60. He knew the degree of his importance, for eight years, would be determined by Kennedy. As a politician, he also knew that Kennedy needed help in carrying the South, and as a Southerner, that he could provide the political muscle.

And so he accepted second place. He told Kennedy that, henceforth, "LBJ" would signify "Let's Back Jack."

At 2:39 p. m. last Friday—three years, four months, and eight days later—Lyndon Baines Johnson was sworn in as the 36th President of the United States.

He is the eighth vice president to be elevated to the White House through the death of a chief executive.

What manner of man is he? Let him profile himself. He once said:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator and a Democrat in that order. I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be, nor as old as I expect to be—and I am all those things in no fixed order."

He could have added that he is the descendant of Baptist preachers and educators, and that he has been a schoolteacher, a law student, a congressional secretary, a farm hand, a road worker, a janitor, a truck driver, a dishwasher, and a Navy lieutenant commander who received the Silver Star from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

He has two dominant qualities—energy and focus.

As a senator, Johnson worked 14 and 16 hours a day. His day started at 6:30 a. m. with coffee, the New York and Washington newspapers, and the Congressional Record.

He would go to his office at 8, sometimes dictating to a secretary in the car.

In a day, it was not uncommon for him to receive 70 calls, 650 letters, 500 telephone calls. How does anyone know? His staff maintained a chart, a kind of box score, that showed the mumbering statistics.

"Come on, let's function—let's function," he would say, when things seemed to be bogging down.

His wife, born Claudia Alta Taylor, and nicknamed "Lady Bird" by her Negro nurse, once said of him:

"At night he comes home dog-tired. We seldom go out. Lyndon says he can't put on a black or white tie every night and still do his job."

On July 2, 1955, a heart attack felled Johnson.

He stands 6-3 and he weighed 200 pounds at the time.

Conspicuously, he was ordered by his doctors to cut his weight, his habit of chain-smoking cigarettes, and his working hours.

He lost 25 pounds and stopped smoking. But he was soon back at the same working pace.

He is so focused, so highly concentrated, that when he has something on his mind he seems not to be able to leave it, even temporarily.

This reporter went to his office one day for a prearranged interview. Johnson had just won an important objective on the Senate floor. He could not sit still. He fidgeted and twisted behind his desk.

He seemed to listen to the first question but said, "Excuse me a second." Then he placed a telephone call. When he hung up, he asked that the question be repeated. It didn't register. He already was phoning another man. Several telephone calls later, interspersed with instructions to several staff members, we got through the first question. Then I gave up, hoping for a better day.

Thus—prior to the heart attack at least—he was completely absorbed in his work. He said he had been too busy to read books, listen to music. If he went to a ball game it was "for the company."

Johnson's close friend, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., once said of him:

"Lyndon Johnson hasn't got the best mind in the Senate. He isn't the best orator. He isn't the best parliamentarian. But he is the best combination of all those qualities."

In his Senate office, Johnson had a large, framed legend which said, "You Ain't Learnin' Nothin' When You're Talkin'."

He is a good listener and he comes now to the greatest learning job in the world.

Eshelman Columbus Firm Sold to International Co.

Eshelman Grain Inc., 4200 Sullivan Ave., Columbus, was sold to the International Milling Co. of Minneapolis. It was announced Saturday by Atherton Bean, president of International, and John W. Eshelman, president of the firm.

Included in the purchase were a 1,502,000 bushel grain storage elevator, a 50,000-ton-a-year feed plant and warehouse and a newly-built office building. Eshelman lives at 484 N. Pickaway St.

The grain company is located on an 18-acre site in the Columbus suburb area and is served by the New York Central Railroad.

The feed mill is a modern concrete six-story structure built in 1951. It is flanked by 12 concrete grain silos which utilize the latest grain handling equipment including two grain truck dumps and two railroad truck scales.

The Eshelman Co. employs about 35 persons. According to a company release, Eshelman will act in a consulting capacity for Supersweet Feeds a division of International. The entire formula feed and grain merchandising operations have been under the direction of Mr. Eshelman.

The additional grain storage gives International a total grain storage capacity of more than 30,000,000 bushels which is used in the operation of its flour mills and grain merchandising.

The firm also manufactures a line of poultry, hog and dairy feeds which are distributed under the Ubiko Life Guard Feeds brand through established dealers in southern Ohio, northwestern West Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

International also operates formula feeds plants in Canada, Venezuela and Ecuador.

October Bond Sales Listed

October sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pickaway County were $80,383 for a 1963 total of $660,865.

In reporting the October sales, William D. Radcliff, county chairman, said that Ohio sales were $1½ million above October 1962. October sales were the highest for that month since 1958 and brought total sales for 1963 to $260 million against a $290 million goal.

Pickaway County reached 88.1 per cent of quota at the end of October, Radcliff reported.

The chairman stated it was "particularly noteworthy" that the $25 to $200 denomination E Bonds, bought chiefly by payroll savers, are selling at their highest level since World War II.

'Revolt against Justice'

Millions of television viewers throughout the nation watched in stunned horror Sunday as a murder was committed. It undoubtedly was the first time so many people witnessed a real-life homicide.

But many looked beyond the grisly aspects of the spectacle to find in the deed some type of justice worked against Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused, but not convicted, of assassinating President Kennedy only two days before.

The overwhelming majority of those polled by The Associated Press looked upon Oswald's slaying by Dallas night club proprietor Jack Ruby as a frightening revolt against the American code of justice.

Many thought the murder mirrored a breakdown in the moral standards of the nation. Clergymen condemned it as a serious breach in Christian ethics.

Rolland R. O'Hare, district attorney of Detroit, expressed fear that "due process of the law is on the verge of becoming a victim of assassination."

Mayor Earle Cabell of Dallas issued an urgent appeal "for all of us to come to our senses, to resist hysteria."

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark

Fry, president of the Lutheran Church in America and chairman of the central committee of the World Council of Churches said:

"Life, as the gift of God, deserves to be respected far more than it is, and self-control ought to be restored to its rightful standing among the Christian graces where the Bible puts it."

Radcliff Named to State Bar Assn. Executive Panel

William D. Radcliff of Circleville was elected to the State Bar Assn. Executive Committee during Saturday's annual meeting here of the association's District No. 8.

Radcliff, recently appointed administrative assistant of the Ohio Supreme Court, will start his three-year term July 1, 1964. He succeeds Harry Reese of Wellston.

Pedestrian Slightly Hurt

A pedestrian was injured slightly yesterday when struck in a crosswalk intersection at Main and Scioto Sts.

Joe Moore, 57, of 139 W. High St., sustained a bruised left leg. He was taken to Berger Hospital by 23-year-old Marvin R. Johnson, 407 E. Union St., driver of the car that struck him. Johnson told city police he was turning east onto Main St from North Scioto. He did not see the pedestrian.

City police cited Johnson with failure to yield the right of way to a pedestrian.

The Eshelman Co. employs about 35 persons. According to a company release, Eshelman will act in a consulting capacity for Supersweet Feeds a division of International. The entire formula feed and grain merchandising operations have been under the direction of Mr. Eshelman.

The additional grain storage gives International a total grain storage capacity of more than 30,000,000 bushels which is used in the operation of its flour mills and grain merchandising.

The firm also manufactures a line of poultry, hog and dairy feeds which are distributed under the Ubiko Life Guard Feeds brand through established dealers in southern Ohio, northwestern West Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

International also operates formula feeds plants in Canada, Venezuela and Ecuador.

October Bond Sales Listed

October sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pickaway County were $80,383 for a 1963 total of $660,865.

In reporting the October sales, William D. Radcliff, county chairman, said that Ohio sales were $1½ million above October 1962. October sales were the highest for that month since 1958 and brought total sales for 1963 to $260 million against a $290 million goal.

Pickaway County reached 88.1 per cent of quota at the end of October, Radcliff reported.

The chairman stated it was "particularly noteworthy" that the $25 to $200 denomination E Bonds, bought chiefly by payroll savers, are selling at their highest level since World War II.

OSWALD'S KILLER — This is a recent photo of Jack Leon Rubinstein (Ruby), Dallas striptease nightclub owner in custody for the fatal shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas police headquarters.

'Revolt against Justice'

Millions of television viewers throughout the nation watched in stunned horror Sunday as a murder was committed. It undoubtedly was the first time so many people witnessed a real-life homicide.

But many looked beyond the grisly aspects of the spectacle to find in the deed some type of justice worked against Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused, but not convicted, of assassinating President Kennedy only two days before.

The overwhelming majority of those polled by The Associated Press looked upon Oswald's slaying by Dallas night club proprietor Jack Ruby as a frightening revolt against the American code of justice.

Many thought the murder mirrored a breakdown in the moral standards of the nation. Clergymen condemned it as a serious breach in Christian ethics.

Rolland R. O'Hare, district attorney of Detroit, expressed fear that "due process of the law is on the verge of becoming a victim of assassination."

Mayor Earle Cabell of Dallas issued an urgent appeal "for all of us to come to our senses, to resist hysteria."

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the Lutheran Church in America and chairman of the central committee of the World Council of Churches said:

"Life, as the gift of God, deserves to be respected far more than it is, and self-control ought to be restored to its rightful standing among the Christian graces where the Bible puts it."

Radcliff Named to State Bar Assn. Executive Panel

William D. Radcliff of Circleville was elected to the State Bar Assn. Executive Committee during Saturday's annual meeting here of the association's District No. 8.

Radcliff, recently appointed administrative assistant of the Ohio Supreme Court, will start his three-year term July 1, 1964. He succeeds Harry Reese of Wellston.

Approximately 80 attorneys from the district participated in Saturday's program. An afternoon session was conducted at the local BPO Elks Lodge. A social hour and evening banquet was held at the Pickaway Country Club.

The attorneys offered a silent prayer at the meeting in memory of the death of President John F. Kennedy. A prayer also was offered at the banquet.

THE BANQUET speaker was Judge Rankin M. Gibson of the Ohio Supreme Court. His subject was "United States Supreme Court Potpourri."

Toastmaster duties were handled by new executive committee member Radcliff. The welcome was given by Allen Berger, president of the Pickaway County Bar Assn.

Erle H. Bridgewater Jr. of Athens, president of the State Bar Assn., presented additional remarks.

Indian Comeback in Canada

Numerically, the Indian is on the way back in Canada, where his gain in numbers matches that of the U. S. Indian. The Canadian Indian population graph, which had declined to the 100,000 mark at the beginning of the century, has now soared past the 210,000 figure.

There was a slow but steady increase in the number of Canadian Indians until about 10 years ago. Then the population explosion began. Today the rate of growth among Indians is proportionately greater than that of any ethnic group in Canada.

If the present rate continues, there will be a million Indians in the northern nation by the end of the twentieth century, according to the Rt. Rev. J. A. Watton, Anglican bishop of Moosonee.

Across Canada, the population increase among Indians is 3 per cent. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Yukon Territory, the rate of growth is nearly 4 per cent in Ontario it is only half that figure.

The population increase has been accompanied by advances in the spheres of health and education and greater participation by Indians in some spheres of Canadian life. Currently, Ottawa is spending more than $50 million a year to help the Indians.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

"Gesundheit" and "God Bless You" are genuine expressions of solicitude. Even total strangers will express their goodwill on hearing an occasional sneeze.

But friends and strangers convert their gentleness to outspoken hostility when the explosive uncovered sneeze blasts millions of disease-bearing bacteria and germs into the air, threatening the health of every human within a ten-foot radius.

Uncovered sneezes are a health menace. There are few ways that are faster in transmitting the flu, the gripe or the common cold to friends or members of the family than by sneezing openly in their presence.

The importance of not contaminating the air with the volcanic eruption of a sneeze is stressed by all health agencies. Preventive measures to keep the spread of infection to a minimum in schools and in industry include strict warnings about the uncovered sneeze.

In the interest not only of good health, always cover the mouth and nose before, not after, a sneeze.

For those with a slow "handkerchief draw", the sneeze can be deflected quickly into a coat lining or even into a sleeve. Many people build up to a lusty sneeze without any thought of protecting those nearby when that sneeze finally explodes.

Logic Is Involved

By John Chamberlain

Scarcely a day passes without someone teeing off on the U.S. Congress for exhibiting the pace of a snail while important issues hang in the balance. Books are written on the "deadlock of democracy," speeches are made about the legislators' "bankers' hours," and Senators Case and Clark, the one a Republican and the other a Democrat, push their bills for a thorough - going reorganization of Congressional procedures.

Nevertheless, while it is incontestably true that the present Congress has dawdled with its consideration of important Administration bills, the imputation that this is a "do-nothing" or "can't-do" session of the legislature is wildly misplaced. Actually, a majority of our Congressmen have been acting — or refraining from acting — on the basis of a very coherent logic. And, in following the dictates of this logic, they have made two tremendous decisions which, for better or worse, will affect the course of history for a long time to come.

The first decision, made by the Senate, was to accept the nuclear test ban. The vote on the test ban was conditioned by the theory that no great showdown with the Soviet Union is on the horizon. Since Soviet Russia is demonstrably in trouble, both at home and in its relations with Red China, there is something to be said for this theory, at least for the short or middle-distance run.

Having accepted the premise of the test ban, it follows that the question of spending money on foreign aid to the end of tightening a noose about Soviet Russia is no longer crucial. I don't say that this is right, but it is a coherent deduction from an initial premise. Besides, a good many of our foreign aid programs had only the remotest relation to good Cold War strategy anyway. So the Congressional decision to slice the fat from foreign aid was in good parliamentary order as a corollary to the test ban.

The decision to consider foreign aid at length in the Senate before acting on the tax bill made quite obvious sense from a domestic point of view. The legislators, having gotten the word from the grass roots back home, have not rushed to buy the Administration's theory that a budgetary deficit abetted by tax cuts is sound economics. Even such Senate liberals as Morse and Proxmire were logical to put foreign aid slashes ahead of tax bill consideration on their personal agenda. Though they are not philosophically against spending, they have to run again. And they know what voters in Oregon and Wisconsin are saying.

It follows from all this that Congressional delay on the tax bill has been, paradoxically, a form of decision.

The quick action on the test ban and on foreign aid cuts proves that Congress "can do" when it is convinced that the voters back home want something. If Congress doesn't get around to tax changes until next year, it is a sign that the voters haven't been pressuring it. The voters have experienced two decades of inflation because of budget deficits, and they are presumably not anxious for still another round of the same.

When it comes to dawdling on the civil rights issue, there may be ground for criticizing Congress. But, again, there is logic behind the laggard pace. The prospect of a long and draining filibuster on such items as a public accommodations bill is enough to make strong men blanch, particularly in a pre-election year. So why not dawdle until things can be worked out behind the scenes in a manner acceptable to a two-thirds majority?

A canny political scientist, Willmoore Kendall, has observed that the voters elect a president for one set of reasons and then turn around and vote for a Congress to serve as a watchdog over that president. This, says Professor Kendall, is the "theory of the two majorities." We have had the "two majorities" ever since the days of James Madison, and the country is not likely to abolish the Madisonian system because of a momentary Congressional slowdown. Particularly when the grass roots have approved the slow-down in advance,

Businessmen Eye Trade Abroad

NEW YORK (AP) — American businessmen are taking a new and colder look at international commerce prospects.

They speak of a drastic turn-about in the last few months. The European Common Market, many say, has turned sour. So has the hope that trade ties will produce a political United States of Europe to stand solid against communism.

And now the Communists are holding out their own prospects of trade, grain so far but maybe other goods later.

Businessmen questioned during a cross-country tour to sample the nation's business mood say they're not quite certain what to make of all this.

Says Robert Keith, executive vice president of the Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis: "We'll have to be on our toes if we're to come out ahead."

Keith says the United States must do all it can to revive prospects for free world trade, at the same time making the most of any Communist offers. These comments came on the eve of meetings to lay the groundwork for a new round of international tariff negotiations made possible by the U. S. Trade Expansion Act of 1962. They came also at a time when tariff disputes rage over several products, especially farm goods.

The mood in this country contrasts with talks a year ago when excitement over the Common Market was high. Businessmen saw that six-nation union of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg as a beguiling market for American goods.

But early this year, France vetoed Britain's petition for entry. The other members quarreled on several issues. Levies against American poultry were raised and America readied tariff reprisals.

There's a trace of bitterness in some of the reactions heard now.

"We paid millions of taxpayers' dollars to get these countries back on their feet, and then shut the door in our face," says Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, a state big in poultry production.

President Thomas Moses of Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis said "the Common Market is just the old tariff union with a high-sounding name. They will have to be persuaded to let their tariffs down; they won't do it otherwise."

However, is the first step toward reviving trade a Dallas banker says:

"We were expecting too much. Those countries aren't going to abandon their nationalism overnight, especially not France, which has just spent seven years fighting a nationalistic war in Algeria."

President Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said: "The Common Market will eventually come into real being. I expect to see freer and freer trade."

The internationalization of commerce, both as to direct exports and to overseas plants, is the predominant trend today, he said.

Others agree that American business should continue in that direction, whether trade hits smooth sailing or rough. There was little support for a return to the high-tariff thinking of the past.

Hungry Kids

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Button of Virginia has struck a blow for antique automobile owners, children and ice cream—all in the same opinion.

Button said he could see nothing illegal about an owner taking children in his antique car to an ice cream stand.

A county judge had asked for the opinion after a Luray policeman stopped an antique car wheezing away from an ice cream stand with several children aboard.

Antique cars get half-price license tag in Virginia but can't be driven except for parades and exhibitions or for necessary maintenance.

Indian Comeback in Canada

Numerically, the Indian is on the way back in Canada, where his gain in numbers matches that of the U. S. Indian. The Canadian Indian population graph, which had declined to the 100,000 mark at the beginning of the century, has now soared past the 210,000 figure.

There was a slow but steady increase in the number of Canadian Indians until about 10 years ago. Then the population explosion began. Today the rate of growth among Indians is proportionately greater than that of any ethnic group in Canada.

If the present rate continues, there will be a million Indians in the northern nation by the end of the twentieth century, according to the Rt. Rev. J. A. Watton, Anglican bishop of Moose- nee.

Across Canada, the population increase among Indians is 3 per cent. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Yukon Territory, the rate of growth is nearly 4 per cent in Ontario it is only half that figure.

The population increase has been accompanied by advances in the spheres of health and education and greater participation by Indians in some spheres of Canadian life. Currently, Ottawa is spending more than $50 million a year to help the Indians.

Newlyweds Face 2 Big Fights

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

"Gesundheit" and "God Bless You" are genuine expressions of solicitude. Even total strangers will express their goodwill on hearing an occasional sneeze.

But friends and strangers convert their gentleness to outspoken hostility when the explosive uncovered sneeze blasts millions of disease-bearing bacteria and germs into the air, threatening the health of every human within a ten-foot radius.

Uncovered sneezes are a health menace. There are few ways that are faster in transmitting the flu, the gripe or the common cold to friends or members of the family than by sneezing openly in their presence.

The importance of not contaminating the air with the volcanic eruption of a sneeze is stressed by all health agencies. Preventive measures to keep the spread of infection to a minimum in schools and in industry include strict warnings about the uncovered sneeze.

In the interest not only of good health, always cover the mouth and nose before, not after, a sneeze.

For those with a slow "handkerchief draw", the sneeze can be deflected quickly into a coat lining or even into a sleeve. Many people build up to a lusty sneeze without any thought of protecting those nearby when that sneeze finally explodes.

When you realize that droplets carry germs and germs cause disease, the obligation to your family and to those surrounding you is to keep your cold from spreading.

The school nurse is an important constituent in the health team and the health program of every community. Educators and parents, in conjunction with physicians and nurses, have co-ordinated their efforts to maintain and improve health standards in schools.

School nurses are the detecting agents who, through frequent inspections, often uncover illness in its early phases.

The occurrence of a single case of measles, mumps or other contagious disease in a school immediately sets in motion the protective communication system that alerts families to the need for gamma globulin and other booster shots.

Routine tests for hearing and vision frequently reveal the earliest evidence of problems that might have been completely overlooked at home.

The early detection of emotional problems often stems from the careful scrutiny given by the teacher and the school nurse. Emotional turbulence in childhood is often reflected in the character of the school work.

Observant teachers quickly identify those whose work is altered by psychological stresses. Psychological testing frequently reveals the needs of children whose tender emotional balance is upset by conflict.

Sometimes parents resent the suggestion by the school nurse that their child should have special medical or psychological attention. That resentment is quickly converted to gratitude when further investigation brings benefits to the child.

Logic Is Involved

By John Chamberlain

Scarcely a day passes without someone teeing off on the U.S. Congress for exhibiting the pace of a snail while important issues hang in the balance. Books are written on the "deadlock of democracy," speeches are made about the legislators' "bankers' hours," and Senators Case and Clark, the one a Republican and the other a Democrat, push their bills for a thorough-going reorganization of Congressional procedures.

Nevertheless, while it is uncontestedly true that the present Congress has dawdled with its consideration of important Administration bills, the imputation that this is a "do-nothing" or "can't-do" session of the legislature is wildly misplaced. Actually, a majority of our Congressmen have been acting — or refraining from acting — on the basis of a very coherent logic. And, in following the dictates of this logic, they have made two tremendous decisions which, for better or worse, will affect the course of history for a long time to come.

The first decision, made by the Senate, was to accept the nuclear test ban. The vote on the test ban was conditioned by the theory that no great showdown with the Soviet Union is on the horizon. Since Soviet Russia is demonstrably in trouble, both at home and in its relations with Red China, there is something to be said for this theory, at least for the short or middle-distance run.

Having accepted the premise of the test ban, it follows that the question of spending money on foreign aid to the end of tightening a noose about Soviet Russia is no longer crucial. I don't say that this is right, but it is a coherent deduction from an initial premise. Besides, a good many of our foreign aid programs had only the remotest relation to good Cold War strategy anyway. So the Congressional decision to slice the fat from foreign aid was in good parliamentary order as a corollary to the test ban.

The decision to consider foreign aid at length in the Senate before acting on the tax bill made quite obvious sense from a domestic point of view. The legislators, having gotten the word from the grass roots back home, have not rushed to buy the Administration's theory that a budgetary deficit abetted by tax cuts is sound economics. Even such Senate liberals as Morse and Proxmire were logical to put foreign aid slashes ahead of tax bill consideration on their personal agenda. Though they are not philosophically against spending, they have to run again. And they know what voters in Oregon and Wisconsin are saying.

It follows from all this that Congressional delay on the tax bill has been, paradoxically, a form of decision.

The quick action on the test ban and on foreign aid cuts proves that Congress "can do" when it is convinced that the voters back home want something. If Congress doesn't get around to tax changes until next year, it is a sign that the voters haven't been pressuring it. The voters have experienced two decades of inflation because of budget deficits, and they are presumably not anxious for still another round of the same.

When it comes to dawdling on the civil rights issue, there may be ground for criticizing Congress. But, again, there is logic behind the laggard pace. The prospect of a long and draining filibuster on such items as a public accommodations bill is enough to make strong men blanch, particularly in a pre-election year. So why not dawdle until things can be worked out behind the scenes in a manner acceptable to a two-thirds majority?

A canny political scientist, Willmoore Kendall, has observed that the voters elect a president for one set of reasons and then turn around and vote for a Congress to serve as a watchdog over that president. This, says Professor Kendall, is the "theory of the two majorities." We have had the "two majorities" ever since the days of James Madison, and the country is not likely to abolish the Madisonian system because of a momentary Congressional slow-down. Particularly when the grass roots have approved the slow-down in advance,

THE MAN who gave fair Harvard its name may never have seen it. The college was opened in 1637. John Harvard, a young cleric in Charlestown, Mass., died in 1638 and left his entire library and half his other property to the struggling new institution of learning. The General Court thereupon ordered that it be named in his honor. No portrait of John Harvard ever has been found. The statue in the Yard is a visualization for which a freshman posed.

After the opening of an off-Broadway play, the author, dismayed because a large part of the audience never came back for the second act, alluded to Critic George Oppenheimer, "I wrote this entire drama in four days flat." Oppenheimer answered coldly, "What took you so long?"

Going the rounds again is George Burns' classic story of the pig who swallowed a stick of dynamite, rubbed against a building, and caused an explosion that razed four city blocks.

"It sure inconvenienced us," admitted the owner. "For two or three days we had a mighty sick pig on our hands!"

Businessmen Eye Trade Abroad

NEW YORK (AP) — American businessmen are taking a new and colder look at international commerce prospects.

They speak of a drastic turnabout in the last few months.

The European Common Market, many say, has turned sour. So has the hope that trade ties will produce a political United States of Europe to stand solid against communism.

And now the Communists are holding out their own prospects of trade, grain so far but maybe other goods later.

Businessmen questioned during a cross-country tour to sample the nation's business mood say they're not quite certain what to make of all this.

Says Robert Keith, executive vice president of the Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis: "We'll have to be on our toes if we're to come out ahead."

Keith says the United States must do all it can to revive prospects for free world trade, at the same time making the most of any Communist offers. These comments came on the eve of meetings to lay the groundwork for a new round of international tariff negotiations made possible by the U. S. Trade Expansion Act of 1962. They come also at a time when tariff disputes rage over several products, especially farm goods.

The mood in this country contrasts with talks a year ago when excitement over the Common Market was high. Businessmen saw that six-nation union of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg as a beguiling market for American goods.

But early this year, France vetoed Britain's petition for entry. The other members quarreled on several issues. Levies against American poultry were raised and America readied tariff reprisals.

There's a trace of bitterness some of the reactions heard now. "We paid millions of taxpayers' dollars to get these countries back on their feet, and then shut the door in our face," says Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, a state big in poultry production.

President Thomas Moses of Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis said "the Common Market is just the old tariff union with a high-sounding name. They will have to be persuaded to let their tariffs down; they won't do it otherwise."

However, is the first step toward reviving trade a Dallas banker says:

"We were expecting too much. Those countries aren't going to abandon their nationalism overnight, especially not France, which has just spent seven years fighting a nationalistic war in Algeria."

President Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said: "The Common Market will eventually come into real being. I expect to see freer and freer trade."

The internationalization of commerce, both as to direct exports and to overseas plants, is the predominant trend today, he said.

Others agree that American business should continue in that direction, whether trade hits smooth sailing or rough. There was little support for a return to the high-tariff thinking of the past.

Schneider, Dickinson Wedding Vows Are Exchanged in Bucyrus

MRS. F. WILLIAM DICKINSON

Miss Mary Kathryn Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Schneider, Bucyrus, was united in marriage to Ensign F. William Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dickinson, 209 N. Scioto St., 2:30 p. m. yesterday in the First Baptist Church, Bucyrus.

The Rev. Randall Fordham performed the double ring ceremony. Seven - branch candelabra, boxwood topiary trees with shell pink carnations and a background of woodwardia fern panels decorated the front of the church.

Mrs. Gary Erwin was organist and Mr. Robert Caldwell was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of candelight brocade fashioned with a scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. Floral motifs embroidered with crystal beading enhanced the midriff and front of the skirt designed with back fullness accented at the waistline with an obi bow and self rose. A petaled pillbox trimmed with pearls held her elbow length veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of gardenias with variegated foliage.

Mrs. Dennis O. Norton, Columbus, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Burrows, Pittsburgh, Pa., Miss Penny Savage, Worthington, Miss Carolyn Helman, Waverly, and Miss Ann Hofsommer, Chicago, Ill., sorority sisters of the bride. They wore identical princess style floor length dresses of ruby Italian velvet each designed with a rounded neckline and accented in the back with a satin bow and streamers extending to the hemline. Matching velvet leaf circlets held their pouf veils and they carried arrangements of sweetheart roses with ruby red grapes and ivy.

Mr. H. D. Dickinson Jr., Columbus, served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Tim Dickinson, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Thomas Addison, Columbus, Lt. James Pressick, Loraine, and Mr. Jerry Leist, Circleville.

The bride's mother wore a willow green dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Dickinson, mother of the bridegroom, wore an ivory dress with matching accessories. Their purse corsages were cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at Greenlawn Restaurant. The bride's table was draped with smilax and highlighted with an arrangement of pink carnations and roses. A pink candle surrounded the individual tables. Another table featured a wedding cake topped with pink sweetheart roses. Hostesses were Miss Sue Arnold, Bucyrus, Miss Marcia Brubaker and Mrs. Robert Neff, Dayton, Miss Brenda Freeman, Toledo, and Mrs. Mark Burkholder, Athens.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore a winter white wool suit with navy blue trim and ruby red accessories.

For the next three years the couple will live at Cavite in the Philippine Islands where Ensign Dickinson will serve with the U. S. Navy.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio University where she was a member of the Pi Beta Phi, social sorority, and Chimes and Sigma Alpha Iota, honoraries. Ensign Dickinson is a graduate of Ohio University where he was president of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. Before entering the Navy he was associated with E. I. DuPont DeNemours in Chicago, Ill.

Among the wedding guests were sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Dave Koester and husband, Painesville, O., Mrs. Walter Duemer, Houston, Texas, Mrs. William Morrissey and husband, Elmira, N. Y., Mrs. Richard Wittmann, the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rosel, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rosel, all of Columbus. Other guests were from Circleville, Athens, Dayton, Waverly, Worthington and Pittsburgh.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

State Your Party Line!

DEAR ABBY: I am 42 years old, and a bachelor by choice. I am neither ugly nor handsome. I enjoy the company of women occasionally, but I don't want to get married just now. My problem is an intelligent, but extremely aggressive young woman—a Goldwater Republican, by the way, who moved in next door to me. She started the usual neighborly friendship. If she sees a light on in my place or my car out in front, she runs over to visit. She has offered to cook for me and do my mending (I refused), and her conversation always gets around to marriage. Last week I moved my refrigerator, cooking equipment and TV down to the basement to make it appear I'm not at home, but I can't fool her. What should I do?

IN HIDING

DEAR IN: Tell her you voted for Kennedy—and move back upstairs.

DEAR ABBY: I lost a baby 18 months ago and I received some very lovely gifts for her. I also bought many nice things for her on my own. I plan on having more children and want to save all her clothes for my next baby. I have put them away as good as new. My sister-in-law is now pregnant and is due in May. She has two other children, 11 and 9, and didn't plan on this one, so she has nothing saved for it. She is 35 and says this will be her last, so she doesn't intend to go all out buying stuff. She has thrown hints left and right for me to offer her my baby's things. I may sound selfish, but I want to keep these things for my next baby. Once anything is used by her it is a wreck as she doesn't take care of anything. What can I say if she asks? Please advise.

SISTER-IN-LAW

DEAR SIS: Don't give anything unless it is given willingly and cheerfully. She won't "ask." People who hint haven't the courage to ask.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who would like your opinion about something my mother did. Last summer while I was on a trip with my family, I met a very nice boy who was working at the motel where we stayed. My mother looked him over and okayed a movie date. We said we would be back by 11:30. We stopped for a snack after the movie and were only 40 minutes late getting back. Mom didn't want to create a disturbance in the motel so she said she would put off my

Schneider, Dickinson Wedding
Vows Are Exchanged in Bucyrus

MRS. F. WILLIAM DICKINSON

Miss Mary Kathryn Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Schneider, Bucyrus, was united in marriage to Ensign F. William Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dickinson, 209 N. Scioto St., 2:30 p. m. yesterday in the First Baptist Church, Bucyrus.

The Rev. Randall Fordham performed the double ring ceremony. Seven-branch candelabra, boxwood topiary trees with shell pink carnations and a background of woodwardia fern panels decorated the front of the church.

Mrs. Gary Erwin was organist and Mr. Robert Caldwell was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of candelight brocade fashioned with a scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. Floral motifs embroidered with crystal beading enhanced the midriff and front of the skirt designed with back fullness accented at the waistline with an obi bow and self rose. A petaled pillbox trimmed with pearls held her elbow length veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of gardenias with variegated foliage.

Mrs. Dennis O. Norton, Columbus, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Burrows, Pittsburgh, Pa., Miss

Penny Savage, Worthington, Miss Carolyn Helman, Waverly, and Miss Ann Hofsommer, Chicago, Ill., sorority sisters of the bride. They wore identical princess style floor length dresses of ruby Italian velvet each designed with a rounded neckline and accented in the back with a satin bow and streamers extending to the hemline. Matching velvet leaf circlets held their pout veils and they carried arrangements of sweetheart roses with ruby red grapes and ivy.

Mr. H. D. Dickinson Jr., Columbus, served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Tim Dickinson, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Thomas Addison, Columbus, Lt. James Pressick, Loraine, and Mr. Jerry Leist, Circleville.

The bride's mother wore a willow green dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Dickinson, mother of the bridegroom, wore an ivory dress with matching accessories. Their purse corsages were cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at Greenlawn Restaurant. The bride's table was draped with smilax and highlighted with an arrangement of pink carnations and roses. A pink candle surrounded with roses centered the individual tables. Another table featured a wedding cake topped with pink sweetheart roses. Hostesses were Miss Sue Arnold, Bucyrus, Miss Marcia Brubaker and Mrs. Robert Neff, Dayton, Miss Brenda Freeman, Toledo, and Mrs. Mark Burkholder, Athens.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore a winter white wool suit with navy blue trim and ruby red accessories.

For the next three years the couple will live at Cavite in the Philippine Islands where Ensign Dickinson will serve with the U. S. Navy.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio University where she was a member of the Phi Beta Phi, social sorority, and Chimes and Sigma Alpha Iota, honoraries.

Ensign Dickinson is a graduate of Ohio University where he was president of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. Before entering the Navy he was associated with E. I. DuPont DeNemours in Chicago, Ill.

Among the wedding guests were sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Dave Koester and husband, Painesville, O., Mrs. Walter Duemer, Houston, Texas, Mrs. William Morrissey and hus-

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren
State Your Party Line!

DEAR ABBY: I am 42 years old, and a bachelor by choice. I am neither ugly nor handsome. I enjoy the company of women occasionally, but I don't want to get married just now. My problem is an intelligent, but extremely aggressive young woman—a Goldwater Republican, by the way, who moved in next door to me. She started the usual neighborly friendship. If she sees a light on in my place or my car out in front, she runs over to visit. She has offered to cook for me and do my mending (I refused), and her conversation always gets around to marriage. Last week I moved my refrigerator, cooking equipment and TV down to the basement to make it appear I'm not at home, but I can't fool her. What should I do?

IN HIDING

DEAR IN: Tell her you voted for Kennedy—and move back upstairs.

DEAR ABBY: I lost a baby 18 months ago and I received some very lovely gifts for her. I also bought many nice things for her on my own. I plan on having more children and want to save all her clothes for my next baby. I have put them away as good as new. My sister-in-law is now pregnant and is due in May. She has two other children, 11 and 9, and didn't plan on this one, so she has nothing saved for it. She is 35 and says this will be her last, so she doesn't intend to go all out, buying stuff. She has thrown hints left and right for me to offer her my baby's things. I may sound selfish, but I want to keep these things for my next baby. Once anything is used by her it is a wreck as she doesn't take care of anything. What can I say if she asks? Please advise.

SISTER-IN-LAW

DEAR SIS: Don't give anything unless it is given willingly and cheerfully. She won't "ask." People who hint haven't the courage to ask.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who would like your opinion about something my mother did. Last summer while I was on a trip with my family, I met a very nice boy who was working at the motel where we stayed. My mother looked him over and okayed a movie date. We said we would be back by 11:30. We stopped for a snack after the movie and were only 40 minutes late getting back. Mom didn't want to create a disturbance in the motel so she said she would put off my punishment until we got home. By the time we got home I had forgotten all about it, but Mom hadn't. Out of a clear blue sky she won't let me go to the Thanksgiving dance. Do you think it is fair of her to punish me this way for something I did last summer?

FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS: No. She should have punished you when you had it coming.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Can't Quit". You CAN and MUST quit. Think of the disastrous consequences when your luck runs out.

The Kiwanis Charity Ball Committee announced today that the Cliff Lash Band of Cincinnati will provide music for the 1963 Charity Ball.

The Lash Band is familiar to Southcentral Ohioans through his professional association with the Ruth Lyons 50-50 club of WLW television. He and his organization appears daily on her noontime program which is viewed in this area.

Charles Stiles of the committee stated that his group is pleased to have been able to secure this band for this year's event. He said Lash's popularity in the Cincinnati area makes his scheduled appearance here a real highlight for the holiday festivities.

This year's dance is being held at the Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum on Dec. 27. The Ball will last from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Invitations to the dance are expected to be in the mail next week.

Assassination Jolts Business

NEW YORK (AP)—The assassination of President Kennedy on Friday shocked the business world to its boots.

Whatever ill feeling may have remained between the President and business evaporated in an outpouring of grief.

Only this week the President had sought to assure businessmen of the administration's friendship and to narrow the gulf that developed 18 months ago in the steel price crisis.

News that Kennedy had been shot in Dallas sent stock market prices reeling downward.

Stock exchanges closed immediately under pressure of an avalanche of trading.

Some financial leaders expressed the opinion that the death of the President will have an immediate depressing effect on stock prices but that strong underlying factors will carry it through the critical period.

A quick sampling of business leaders indicated that business may be in for a lull of several weeks as a result of Kennedy's death but that there will be no slump.

Earlier, Wall Street was shaken by good and bad financial news.

Spirits were raised in the Street and across the country when American Telephone & Telegraph Co. voted to split its common stock 2-for-1, raised the dividend and offered its 2.2 million stockholders rights to buy 12.25 million shares of stock.

AT&T, world's largest utility will double the shares held by its biggest family of stockholders next June. It also will pass out an extra 10 cents in each quarterly dividend next year.

Its stock offering will give stockholders the right to buy one new share for each 20 held on Feb. 18. Proceeds will help finance a record $3.25-billion construction program in 1964.

The price of the commodities dropped sharply in the last week as a deal to sell wheat to the Soviet Union stalled in Congress. The wheat deal was considered a prelude to commodity sales.

Analyzing the health of the economy, the Morgan Guarantee Trust Co. of New York commented that, "The current round of business expansion, now in its 33rd month, is putting on an impressive display of youthful pep."

"All of the broad economic indicators appear to be moving upward, not only assuring a good fourth-quarter gain in

been observed by all the local schools.

She asked parents to feel free to visit the school at any time not only during special occasions.

She also stressed the importance and need for two conferences a year between parents and teacher to bring a closer relationship and a better understanding between the parent and teacher for the benefit of the student.

Mrs. Schumm closed the meeting with a prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pearl Anderson and her committee.

gross national product but hinting at considerable carryover momentum for early 1964," the bank said.

The Commerce Department reported that personal income in October ran at an annual rate of $470.3 billion, up $3 billion from September. However, intentions to buy new cars, while up from a few months ago, weren't as ambitious as a year earlier.

Steel production rose during the week for the fourth consecutive week, totaling 1,979,000 tons, a gain of 1.1 per cent from the previous week.

A total of 26,862,771 shares of stock was sold on the New York Stock Exchange during the week compared with 22,664,551 the previous week. Bond sales totaled $51,919,000 par value compared with $40,711,000 the preceding week.

Wall Streets bad news was suspension by the New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange of the trading privileges of two big brokerage houses because of financial difficulties.

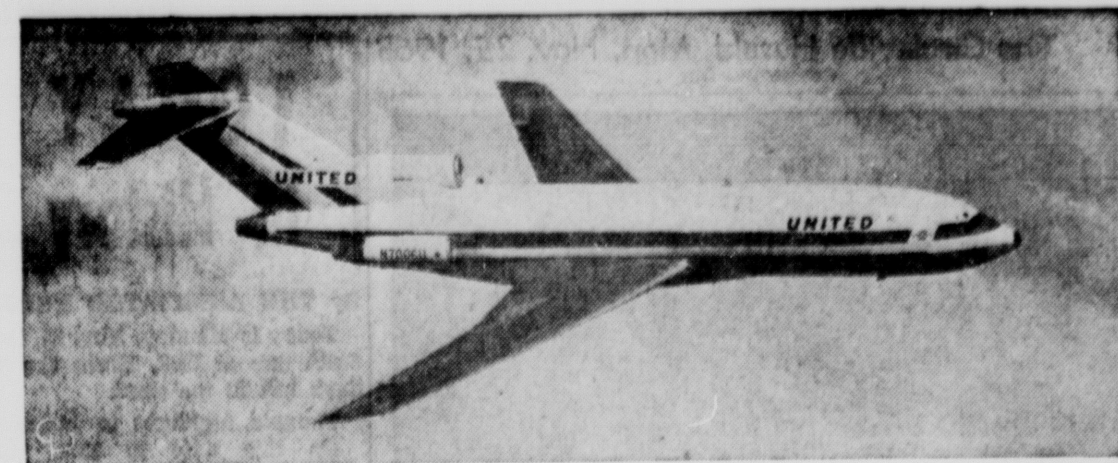

The suspended brokerage firms were the old-line Kira Haupt & Co. and J.R. Williston and Beane, Inc.

They ran into financial troubles when Allied Crude Vegetable Oil & Refining Co. of Bayonne, N.J., was unable to meet calls for nearly $19 million in margin on trades in cottonseed and soybean oil.

Margin is the amount of cash down payment on stocks or commodity futures. When prices fall, brokers ask for more cash to be put up.

Allied apparently had overextended its credit in buying commodity futures in anticipation of sales of vegetable oils to soviet bloc countries.

FLYING IN WITH THE NEW YEAR—This 92-passenger, 550-to-600-mile-an-hour, tri-jet Boeing 727 will make its debut on United Airlines' system early in 1964. United already has taken delivery of the first of 40 727s which will bring jet service to new cities on the air carrier's routes. Besides the pods on either side of the fuselage, the 727 has a third fan-jet engine in the tail cone.

WALKING AND BLOOD PRESSURE

Q. I have high blood pressure. I walk to and from work. Is walking bad for the blood pressure?

A. Walking brings into play many adjustment mechanisms, especially with regard to the blood vessels. The effect of walking at a moderate pace on existing high blood pressure would probably be slight. However, strenuous exercise might override the adjustment mechanisms and cause harm. It is well to keep in mind that mild exercise is generally a stimulant to circulation and basic body functions.

PICTURE-TAKING IN NURSERIES

Q. Some hospitals allow pictures to be taken of very young babies. Wouldn't the light from the flash bulb harm the infant's eyes?

A. It is unlikely that the eyes of an infant can be harmed by the intensity of light from the ordinary flash bulb. The effect of light on the eyes is the product of intensity multiplied by time. Thus, the eye can be injured by brief exposure to intense light such as that of an atomic explosion, or by longer exposure to less intense light such as might be encountered in viewing an eclipse thru "smoked" glass. Neither of these conditions are met with in flash bulb photography.

Some financial leaders expressed the opinion that the death of the President will have an immediate depressing effect on stock prices but that strong underlying factors will carry it through the critical period.

A quick sampling of business leaders indicated that business may be in for a full of several weeks as a result of Kennedy's death but that there will be no slump.

Earlier, Wall Street was shaken by good and bad financial news.

Spirits were raised in the Street and across the country when American Telephone & Telegraph Co. voted to split its common stock 2-for-1, raised the dividend and offered its 2.2 million stockholders rights to buy 12.25 million shares of stock.

AT&T, world's largest utility will double the shares held by its biggest family of stockholders next June. It also will pass out an extra 10 cents in each quarterly dividend next year.

Its stock offering will give stockholders the right to buy one new share for each 20 held on Feb. 18. Proceeds will help finance a record $3.25-billion construction program in 1964.

The price of the commodities dropped sharply in the last week as a deal to sell wheat to the Soviet Union stalled in Congress. The wheat deal was considered a prelude to commodity sales.

Analyzing the health of the economy, the Morgan Guarantee Trust Co. of New York commented that, "The current round of business expansion, now in its 33rd month, is putting on an impressive display of youthful pep."

"All of the broad economic indicators appear to be moving upward, not only assuring a good fourth-quarter gain in

been observed by all the local schools.

She asked parents to feel free to visit the school at any time not only during special occasions.

She also stressed the importance and need for two conferences a year between parents and teacher to bring a closer relationship and a better understanding between the parent and teacher for the benefit of the student.

Mrs. Schumm closed the meeting with a prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pearl Anderson and her committee.

gross national product but hinting at considerable carryover momentum for early 1964," the bank said.

The Commerce Department reported that personal income in October ran at an annual rate of $470.3 billion, up $3 billion from September. However, intentions to buy new cars, while up from a few months ago, weren't as ambitious as a year earlier.

Steel production rose during the week for the fourth consecutive week, totaling 1,979,000 tons, a gain of 1.1 per cent from the previous week.

A total of 26,862,771 shares of stock was sold on the New York Stock Exchange during the week compared with 22,664,551 the previous week. Bond sales totaled $51,919,000 par value compared with $40,711,000 the preceding week.

Wall Streets bad news was suspension by the New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange of the trading privileges of two big brokerage houses because of financial difficulties.

The suspended brokerage firms were the old-line Kira Haupt & Co. and J.R. Williston and Beane, Inc. They ran into financial troubles when Allied Crude Vegetable Oil & Refining Co. of Bayonne, N.J., was unable to meet calls for nearly $19 million in margin on trades in cottonseed and soybean oil.

Margin is the amount of cash down payment on stocks or commodity futures. When prices fall, brokers ask for more cash to be put up.

Allied apparently had overextended its credit in buying commodity futures in anticipation of sales of vegetable oils to soviet bloc countries.

FLYING IN WITH THE NEW YEAR—This 92-passenger, 550-to-600-mile-an-hour, tri-jet Boeing 727 will make its debut on United Airlines' system early in 1964. United already has taken delivery of the first of 40 727s which will bring jet service to new cities on the air carrier's routes. Besides the pods on either side of the fuselage, the 727 has a third fan-jet engine in the tail cone.

WALKING AND BLOOD PRESSURE

Q. I have high blood pressure. I walk to and from work. Is walking bad for the blood pressure?

A. Walking brings into play many adjustment mechanisms, especially with regard to the blood vessels. The effect of walking at a moderate pace on existing high blood pressure would probably be slight. However, strenuous exercise might override the adjustment mechanisms and cause harm. It is well to keep in mind that mild exercise is generally a stimulant to circulation and basic body functions.

PICTURE-TAKING IN NURSERIES

Q. Some hospitals allow pictures to be taken of very young babies. Wouldn't the light from the flash bulb harm the infant's eyes?

A. It is unlikely that the eyes of an infant can be harmed by the intensity of light from the ordinary flash bulb. The effect of light on the eyes is the product of intensity multiplied by time. Thus, the eye can be injured by brief exposure to intense light such as that of an atomic explosion, or by longer exposure to less intense light such as might be encountered in viewing an eclipse thru "smoked" glass. Neither of these conditions are met with in flash bulb photography.

Mourning U.S. Buries Chief

sorrow and affection, Americans might and humble paid their respects to their slain leader by the hundreds of thousands.

They choked the sidewalks along Pennsylvania Avenue and flooded the capitol grounds Sunday as the late President's body was carried past them on a caisson drawn by six horses. Then came the dark riderless horse, with empty cavalry boots reversed in the stirrups the traditional symbol of a slain warrior.

And after the procession passed, the crowd of spectators broke through the police lines and by the thousands marched silently up the broad avenue to the white capitol crowning Capitol Hill.

All night and into the morning a double line three and four abreast passed the bier with its guard of honor under the rotunda.

Still at 4:30 a.m. the line stretched some five miles and police estimated 85,000 persons were still waiting, bundled against the 35 degree chill.

Some cried. Some carried children in arms to let them have a brush with history.

But even as the crowds waited along Pennsylvania Avenue for the start of the procession Sunday a new shock whispered through the throngs:

Lee Harvey Oswald, the 24-year-old Marxist and ex-Marine charged with killing Kennedy, was himself gunned down and died in an emergency room at Dallas' Parkland Hospital, not 10 feet from where Kennedy had died Friday.

Oswald breathed his last shortly after the late President's body was carried by nine servicemen into the Capitol.

But for President Johnson, the case was not closed. He ordered the FBI to make an investigation into Oswald's killing in the Dallas jail basement by a self-appointed executioner, Jack Ruby, the operator of a Dallas strip joint.

As Oswald slumped to the floor clawing at his stomach one of the 200 jamming into the basement shouted: "It's too good for him."

Not long after Oswald died hundreds of miles away, Mrs. Kennedy, her eyes shadowed by fatigue and grief, stood with daughter Caroline before the flag-draped casket in the Capitol and heard Chief Justice Earl Warren speak these words in eulogy to the late President:

"If we really love this country; if we really love justice and mercy; if we fervently want to make this nation better for those who are to follow us, we can at least abjure the hatred that consumes people, the false accusations that divide us and the bitterness that begets violence."

"Is it too much to hope that the martyrdom of our beloved President might even soften the hearts of those who would themselves recoil from assassination, but who do not shrink from spreading the venom which kindles thoughts of it in others?"

The other eulogies were delivered by the late President's congressional leaders, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker John W. McCormack, the tall white-haired Bostonian who had watched the Harvard-educated millionaire's son move swiftly up from House to Senate to White House.

"We must thank God," said McCormack, "that we were privileged, however briefly, to have had this great man for president."

John Jr. had also accompanied his mother and sister to the services, but too young to understand figured and finally had to be led away. His third birthday is today.

And then at the end, Mrs. Kennedy walked up to the closed coffin with little Caroline beside her. She knelt and kissed it.

Later in the night and alone except for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, she returned and passing through the long lines of those who came to pay their respect, she once again knelt and kissed her husband's casket.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 25, the 392nd day of 1963. There are 36 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1874, the Greenback party was organized at Indianapolis and adopted a platform of advocating payment of the national debt with greenbacks. The party's first presidential candidate, Peter Cooper of New York, received less than 82,000 votes in the 1875 election.

On this date:

In 1783, the British evacuated New York City after holding it for more than seven years of the Revolutionary War.

In 1863, the Battle of Missionary Ridge was fought during the Civil War.

In 1922, Benito Mussolini was granted dictatorial powers in Italy.

In 1943, an American naval force sank four Japanese destroyers in the Southwest Pacific during World War II.

In 1950, gales of near hurricane force, accompanied by rain and snow, swept 22 states from the East Coast to the Middle West, killing 278 persons and causing damage estimated at $400 million.

Ten years ago—The chief justice of U.S. courts in Germany,

Is St. Lawrence Seaway Boon or Bust?

DETROIT (AP)—Is the St. Lawrence Seaway a boon or a burden?

When the inland waterway opened in 1959 it was hailed as a "miracle of transportation" by officials all along its 2,400-mile system from the Atlantic Ocean to the headwaters of the Great Lakes.

But it hasn't worked out that way, as detractors are quick to point out. Critics argue that the seaway isn't paying its own way, and may never be able to climb out from under its $130 million debt to the U.S. Treasury which is compounded annually at the rate of 3 percent. The seaway has repaid $10 million but this doesn't even cover the interest on the loan.

Standing firmly with his finger in the dike is Joseph H. McCann, who was appointed administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation in 1961 by President Kennedy.

William Clark, said he would contest his dismissal by the American State Department.

Five years ago — The former head of research at General Motors — Charles Kettering — died at 82.

One year ago — Candidates pledged to support President Charles de Gaulle won an absolute majority in the French National Assembly in two-round legislative elections.

He admits the seaway is running 34 millions of tons of cargo behind original projections in its first four years of operations. But as the waterway approaches the end of its fifth year, McCann feels there is lots of room for optimism.

With the 1963 season coming to a close, McCann says 26.5 million tons (last year's high) have already passed through the maze of locks as of Oct. 31. By the Dec. 1 closing date, he expects this figure to approach or surpass 30 million tons.

In answer to seaway critics, McCann says that original estimates of tonnage projections were too high, and that many businessmen have been slow to take advantage of the seaway's low toll rates. Another problem that has slowed seaway growth is the fact that the Great Lakes ports are open only nine months, from April to December.

McCann says he is seeking a two-week extension of the Dec. 1 closing date. He says this would allow many ships to make an additional trip to Great Lakes ports and provide millions of dollars in added business.

The seaway is capable of carrying 50 million tons annually, says McCann. He expects a 10 per cent increase in tonnage until the maximum is reached sometime in 1970.

"We ought to be paying off the principal of the bonds by then," he says.

But a lot of work remains to be done. McCann says all seaway ports must do their part to promote the seaway and provide adequate harbor facilities which can accommodate ocean-going ships. Some are lagging behind, including Detroit.

In February public hearings will be held in both the United States and Canada to set seaway toll rates. This will be the first toll review since the seaway opened.

The rate problem is another major issue that has confused seaway progress, says McCann. Price cuts from inland transportation firms, and counter price cuts have left even many shipping experts dazed.

Senators Phillip Hart of Michigan and Frank Lausche of Ohio are expected to hold hearings on rates and other seaway problems in early 1964.

In the meantime, McCann feels seaway rates will become lower as larger ships are enabled to carry more cargo.

"Right now," says McCann, "seaway savings are often so significant they can mean the difference between losing or keeping a customer, between profit and loss."

For example, he cites the new European market for frozen tart red cherries grown in Michigan and Wisconsin. More than three million pounds were shipped in one month, he said.

McCann says more and more markets abroad are opening every day.

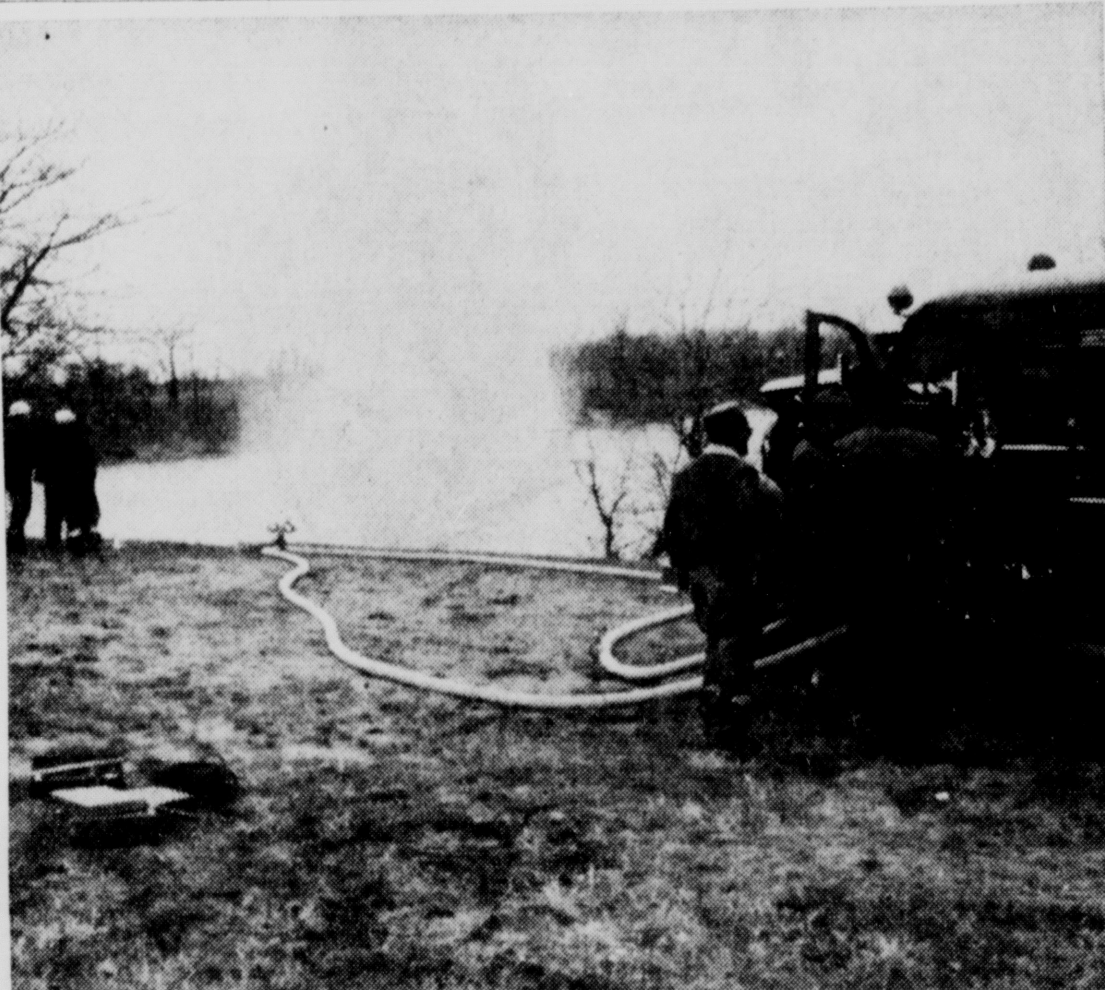

"It's a slow process," said McCann. "We are making more of a dent every year. But it will take time. Time for industry to adjust itself to the new route. Time for the economy of our nation to grow so that it aches with the need of more transportation facilities, and time for the reality to catch up with the dream of 'the miracle of transportation.'"

Plane Engine Quits

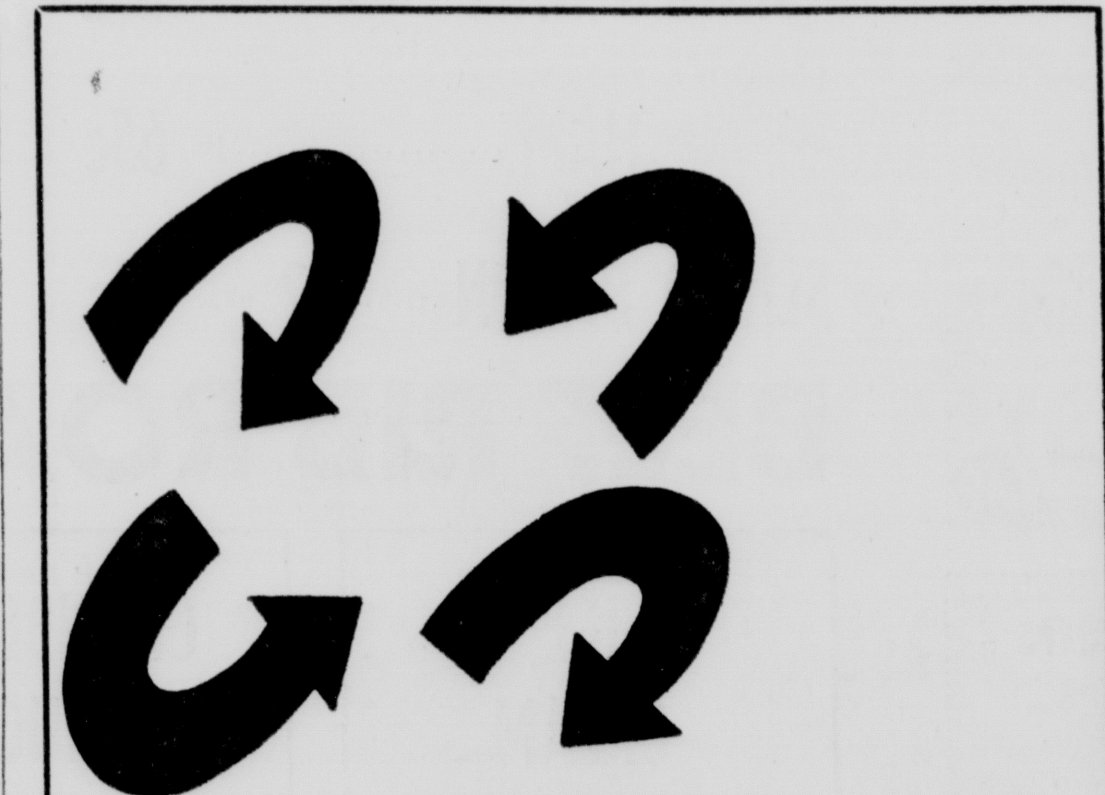

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Wyoming, Ohio, physician, Dr. D. J. Kindel, 35, escaped injury Sunday when his single-engine plane crashed in suburban Evendale. He said the engine stopped.

Does BLADDER IRRITATION MAKE YOU NERVOUS?

After 21, common kidney or bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by soothing pain relief. Get CYSTEX at drugstore. Feel better fast.

INSPECT FIREFIGHTING EQUIPMENT — The Ohio Inspection Bureau has conducted a rigid inspection of all the local department's fire-fighting equipment. The OIB report helps to determine local fire insurance rates. These tests were completed at Hargus Lake (above) measuring pressure on pumps of the fire engines.

JFK Assassin Is 'Executed'

"He took Kennedy's death much harder than that of our 88-year-old father five years ago," said Ruby's older sister, Eva Grant. "He couldn't eat Friday. He kept talking about Jackie and the Kennedy kids."

Oswald had been formally accused of the sniper assassination of Kennedy last Friday as the President rode beaming beside his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, in a triumphal motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Also wounded in the shooting was Texas Gov. John Connally, who is recovering. Later, authorities said, Oswald shot to death a Dallas policeman, J. D. Tippit, who—wittingly or otherwise—interrupted his getaway flight.

The first reaction of Dallas police to Oswald's murder was to mark the assassination case closed, and concentrate on trying to convict Ruby.

But federal officials felt otherwise. President Johnson ordered a full government probe of Oswald's slaying, and the FBI proposed further investigation into the presidential assassination with the hope of eventually giving the American people the full story. Later, Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade listed what he said was a complete summary of the evidence against Oswald.

A wild tumult broke out immediately after the shooting of Oswald in the basement of City Hall. But it was nothing compared to the public uproar over the slaying.

Communist propaganda organs abroad promptly depicted Oswald's death as a coverup to mask sinister rightist forces which they blamed for the President's assassination. Moscow bitterly resented the linking of Oswald with communism.

Americans themselves disagreed over the shooting of the cold-eyed Oswald. Some thought he got what he deserved. Others noted that no matter the enormity of the crime charged against him, he still was entitled by law to his day in court.

Amid the furore, Ruby was booked on a murder charge and Dist. Atty. Wade announced he would press for his conviction and execution in the electric chair with the same vigor he had proposed to apply toward Oswald.

Oswald was arrested Friday, shortly after Kennedy's assassination and after the slaying of officer Tippit.

He insisted from the outset: "I did not kill President Kennedy. I did not kill anyone."

He stuck to this story during 48 hours of intensive questioning in temporary detention quarters in City Hall.

However, Wade said of his case against Oswald: "I have sent men to the electric chair with less evidence. The gun was here, his prints were on the gun, the gun was the gun that killed Kennedy, his palm prints were on the box on which the killer sat, and witnesses put

Sentiment Said Growing For Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that Republicans may give former Vice President Richard M. Nixon a second crack at the presidency appeared to be growing today.

The assassination of John F. Kennedy and the ascension of Lyndon B. Johnson to the office has forced a radical reassessment by GOP strategists of the 1964 campaign.

Where once they conceded privately they had only an uphill chance of defeating Kennedy's bid for a second term, they now feel the odds are nearly even they may be able to deny Johnson a first elective term.

For a race with Kennedy, many wanted to gamble on the theory that a conservative like Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., could defeat a Democratic liberal.

Now the Republican candidate is likely to face a Democrat identified in the public mind as a Southern conservative. For this is how Johnson is viewed by many, despite the support he has given as vice president to the Kennedy legislative program and his efforts to shed the tag of sectionalism.

Nevertheless, the Republicans perceive a broad avenue leading toward the nomination of a man who can try to out-Johnson Johnson in being for positive action on civil rights and for prudent social welfare programs without having to bear the party umbrage of being a "me-too" candidate.

The Republican who ordinarily would fit this description is Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York. But to get his party's nomination, Rockefeller will have to overcome the political liability of divorcing his wife of 35 years and marrying a divorced mother of four children.

If Rockefeller cannot surmount this political barrier—and many liberal Republicans are indicating by searching frantically elsewhere for a champion that they think he cannot—Nixon may prove to be their only refuge.

Some Uncertainties Seen In Future U.S. Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson seems strongly committed by his public statements of the past three years to carry forward the major lines of U.S. foreign policy developed by President Kennedy.

But the change in leadership of the Western alliance so suddenly wrought Friday by an assassin's bullets has inevitably opened a period of uncertainty about the future direction of U.S. relations with the rest of the world.

This applies particularly to relations with the Soviet Union and the Western Allies.

Johnson recently defended the East-West limited nuclear test-ban treaty and the proposed sale of wheat to the Soviet Union. He has also advocated formation of a NATO nuclear weapons force as urged by Kennedy.

But now that he is President it remains to be seen how he will handle such issues, especially the possibility of any further agreements with Moscow.

A critical related question is whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev will seek to promote friendly relations with the new U.S. chief executive at the outset or will embark on a strategy of probing and testing, perhaps by some new tension-creating move around Berlin.

The uncertainty about policy extends also to the future makeup of the inner circle of men, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, whose advice decisively influenced the courts of diplomacy during the Kennedy administration.

Washington officials expect, however, that for the immediate future Johnson will retain key

JFK Assassin Is 'Executed'

"He took Kennedy's death much harder than that of our 88-year-old father five years ago," said Ruby's older sister, Eva Grant. "He couldn't eat Friday. He kept talking about Jackie and the Kennedy kids."

Oswald had been formally accused of the sniper assassination of Kennedy last Friday as the President rode beaming beside his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, in a triumphal motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Also wounded in the shooting was Texas Gov. John Connally, who is recovering. Later, authorities said, Oswald shot to death a Dallas policeman, J. D. Tippit, who—wittingly or otherwise—interrupted his getaway flight.

The first reaction of Dallas police to Oswald's murder was to mark the assassination case closed, and concentrate on trying to convict Ruby.

But federal officials felt otherwise. President Johnson ordered a full government probe of Oswald's slaying, and the FBI proposed further investigation into the presidential assassination with the hope of eventually giving the American people the full story. Later, Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade listed what he said was a complete summary of the evidence against Oswald.

A wild tumult broke out immediately after the shooting of Oswald in the basement of City Hall. But it was nothing compared to the public uproar over the slaying.

Communist propaganda organs abroad promptly depicted Oswald's death as a coverup to mask sinister rightist forces which they blamed for the President's assassination. Moscow bitterly resented the linking of Oswald with communism.

Americans themselves disagreed over the shooting of the cold-eyed Oswald. Some thought he got what he deserved. Others noted that no matter the enormity of the crime charged against him, he still was entitled by law to his day in court.

Amid the furore, Ruby was booked on a murder charge and Dist. Atty. Wade announced he would press for his conviction and execution in the electric chair with the same vigor he had proposed to apply toward Oswald.

Oswald was arrested Friday, shortly after Kennedy's assassination and after the slaying of officer Tippit.

He insisted from the outset: "I did not kill President Kennedy. I did not kill anyone."

He stuck to this story during 48 hours of intensive questioning in temporary detention quarters in City Hall.

However, Wade said of his case against Oswald: "I have sent men to the electric chair with less evidence. The gun was here, his prints were on the gun, the gun was the gun that killed Kennedy, his palm prints were on the box on which the killer sat, and witnesses put him on the sixth floor at the time of the shooting."

The assassin fired on Kennedy from the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository building, which overlooked the route of the President's motorcade. Oswald was a warehouse employe of the firm.

Finally, police decided they would get no information from Oswald. They announced that he would be transferred by armored car from City Hall to a permanent maximum security cell in the Dallas County Jail, about a mile away.

Some 200 newsmen and officials gathered in a basement ramp leading from a City Hall elevator to a driveway outside. Other curious spectators stood in bright sunshine outside to await Oswald's emergence.

Oswald, handcuffed, with detectives on either arm, came out of the elevator and took a few steps in the direction of the armored car parked halfway up the inclined ramp.

At that moment, the stocky, conservatively dressed Ruby lunged forward, stuck his pistol flush against Oswald's side and fired a single shot. The roar of the gun was somewhat muffled by its close proximity to the victim's body.

The bullet tore through Oswald's vital midsection organs, although it missed his heart. He was rushed to Parkland Hospital and into an emergency room only a few feet from the one where President Kennedy died.

Some of the same doctors who worked on the President tried just as desperately to save Oswald's life. Blood was administered. His chest was opened and his heart massaged by hand. But Oswald never regained consciousness and died at 1:07 p.m. The shooting occurred at 11:20 a.m.

Ruby owns a strip tease joint, the Carousel, in downtown Dallas about four blocks from police headquarters, and a dance hall, the Vegas, further out.

His real last name was Rubinstein. Early in life he was nicknamed "Sparky" because of his volatile nature.

Ruby drove up to City Hall shortly before the Oswald shooting. His background had given him an extensive acquaintance among Dallas policemen and there seemed no apparent reason why his presence amidst officials should be restricted.

Afterwards, Dallas Police Chief Jess Curry explained why Oswald was being transferred in broad daylight.

He told newsmen: "If I hadn't promised you people I would not take Oswald until this morning, we would have taken him during the night. I told you I wouldn't back down on my pledge."

Ruby's single shot ended a strange career for Oswald.

After serving without distinction in the U.S. Marines and receiving a discharge as an undesirable, the New Orleans born, Communist-converted Oswald went to Moscow in 1959 and announced his intention to renounce his American citizenship and live in the Soviet Union.

Later, Oswald changed his mind. Because he never actually had received Soviet citizenship, he was allowed to return to this country in 1962. With him he brought a petite Russian blonde, whom he had married there and who bore him two children, one 4 years old and the other 22 months old.

All his life, Oswald was known as a loner. It was alone in a crowd that he fell prone on the basement floor of City Hall while pandemonium broke loose above his motionless body.

Johnson recently defended the East-West limited nuclear test-ban treaty and the proposed sale of wheat to the Soviet Union. He has also advocated formation of a NATO nuclear weapons force as urged by Kennedy.

But now that he is President it remains to be seen how he will handle such issues, especially the possibility of any further agreements with Moscow.

A critical related question is whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev will seek to promote friendly relations with the new U.S. chief executive at the outset or will embark on a strategy of probing and testing, perhaps by some new tension-creating move around Berlin.

The uncertainty about policy extends also to the future makeup of the inner circle of men, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, whose advice decisively influenced the courts of diplomacy during the Kennedy administration.

Washington officials expect, however, that for the immediate future Johnson will retain key

Stands Full, But Sombre

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The crowds were sombre. But the stands were filled.

That was Sunday, some 43 hours after the assassination of President Kennedy, as the National Football League staged its seven-game program on schedule despite vigorous verbal protests from some quarters and players openly shaken by tragedy.

"I cried when I heard Mr. Kennedy had been killed," said San Francisco tackle Bob St. Clair. "I didn't really want to play," said Washington receiver Bobby Mitche. "I guess I feel like everyone else. I've lost a brother."

But after memorial ceremonies were conducted before the games at the seven cities, St. Clair and Mitchell and some 500 other NFL players took the field. The stands were filled, with few exceptions.

At Pittsburgh, the Steelers played to a 17-14 tie with the Chicago Bears before the biggest crowd of the season at Forbes Field, 36,465. And, at Los Angeles, where the Rams edged Baltimore 17-16, a crowd of 48,555 was on hand, largest since opening day.

Elsewhere, there were some seats left vacant by ticketholders who stayed home, and club spokesmen said refunds would be made to those who had bought tickets but did not attend the games. But there will be few refunds.

A sellout crowd of 62,992 was in New York's Yankee Stadium as St. Louis defeated the Giants 24-17, a sellout of 45,905 at Milwaukee saw Green Bay beat San Francisco 28-10 and 55,096 were at Cleveland as the Browns defeated Dallas 27-17.

At Minneapolis - St. Paul, where 20,000 copies of the Star Spangled Banner were distributed to fans, a crowd of 28,763 witnessed the Vikings' 34-31 victory over Detroit. And the last 1,500 tickets were sold just before game time at Philadelphia, where 60,671 saw Washington's 13-10 victory over the Eagles.

Redskins' Coach Bill McPeak said the team will send the game ball to the White House as a symbol of the deep feeling the Washington players felt for the late President Kennedy.

"I don't want to be morbid or corny," said McPeak, "but I really feel our gang was playing today for President Kennedy and in his memory."

"We were very surprised that Commissioner Pete Rozelle decided to have the game played. We at first thought it a bad idea. But then we were told we were to play, so we decided that this is the way President Kennedy would have wanted it."

Rozelle reaffirmed his decision to go ahead with the schedule at the same time the American Football League postponed its four-game program.

"Everyone has a different way of paying respects," he said. "I went to church and I imagine many of the people at the games did too. I cannot feel that playing the games was disrespectful."

The players had mixed reactions.

Giants' linebacker Sam Huff had this to say:

"I feel depressed. I feel as bad about it as anybody. But staying home and moping around wouldn't do any good."

"That is our life. The people who don't like it, that's their right."

"Maybe that's what the President died for."

The Houston Colts have 2 players in winter baseball leagues. Thirteen are in the Florida instructional league, five in Venezuela and four in Puerto Rico.

Circleville Tigers Toppled By Lancaster Gales, 68-53

By STEVE JONES

The Circleville High School basketball team was defeated by visiting Lancaster Saturday night when a strong finish provided the Gales with a 68-53 margin.

The game was closer in one respect than the final score would seem to indicate. With 4:30 on the clock in the final period, the Tigers were down by only three points.

The score was 52-49 at that point. The Gales then moved ahead on Jim Goodman's layup shot and the next time they gained possession of the ball they elected to stall.

Their possession tactics were successful. The Circleville cagers committed a number of personal fouls as they pressed more closely in an attempt to break the stall.

THE VISITORS had a deadly eye from the charity stripe.

For the Red and Black, it appeared to be a typical first game performance. They had a total of 14 turnovers as the visitors took advantage of bad passing and some erratic play to steal the ball.

The big men for the Gales did a good job of controlling the defensive boards. Time after time they hauled down rebounds under the Tigers basket to hold the score down.

Pacing the Tiger offense was veteran senior cager Tom Smith. He hit nine of 16 field goal attempts and canned five foul shots for 23 points. His effort was high for the game.

He also hauled in 13 rebounds — the only Tiger to do consistent work on the boards.

Ron Seward, John Thomas and Tom Tootle collected six points each to trail Smith in the scoring.

BIG Charlie Lewis, a 6-4 senior playing his first high school basketball game, scored four points as did Bob Purcell and Dick Butz.

Lancaster had two cagers who hit double figures. They were Charles Schuyler with 17 and Jim Goodman with 13.

Starting for the Tigers were Purcell and Dave Bass at guards, Smith at the Pivot post and John Pharr and Tootle were the forwards.

The second half saw Butz and Seward operating at guards, spelled by John Maxwell on occasion. Lewis moved in to the center slot and Smith went to forward. Toot-le, Pharr and Thomas alternated at forwards until Thomas fouled out.

Smith also fouled out for Circleville. The Tigers committed a total of 28 personal fouls. The Gales had 21 charged against them.

The Tigers got off to an early lead when Smith scored the first basket after 30 seconds of play.

THEY HELD a slight edge until a tip in by Jim Goodman of Lancaster knotted the score 14-14 at the end of the first period.

Gary Crowell put the Gales ahead for good just 16 seconds after the second quarter started.

By halftime the visitors were leading 35-26. Circleville narrowed the margin to 45-41 as the final period began, pulled within three points by the mid-point and then saw the Gales widen the margin on foul shots.

The visitors hit 30 of 41 attempts, Wednesday the Tigers travel to Pleasant View to face what could well be one of the toughest teams in the South Central Ohio League this year.

Panther coach Bo Brickels has a veteran squad returning. Only one starter is missing from the team that bested the CHS Tigers in three contests last year.

Brickels was at Circleville Saturday scouting the Tigers. Wednesday's encounter will be the first game of the season for his Panthers.

The CHS-Lancaster was the only game involving an SCO team last night. Several other league coaches were present.

THE CIRCLEVILLE reserve team lost the preliminary game 53-43.

Bill Grein of Lancaster paced his team to the win with a 23 point effort while Howard Dade came through with 19 markers for the Tigers and Terry Stonerock tallied 10.

OUR PROBLEM —

Our problem is to get an important message across to men who are sincerely seeking an opportunity where future and income is limited only by one's own ability and willingness to work, we are engaged in testing public response and consumer acceptance type work. We have an immediate company sponsored training program. This automatically qualifies you for immediate high income. We are not trying to proselyte from other companies but we are trying to make restless people on present jobs, aware of something better for themselves. I believe it should be worth one hour of your time to hear of the fine prestige, high income, tremendous potential offer we have.
IS IT WORTH ONE HOUR OF YOUR TIME TO HEAR
OUR PROGRAM AND HELP US WITH OURS?

DEFENSE AROUND THE WORLD—Here is where most of the U.S. manpower defense against Communism is located. More than 600,000 troops serve overseas, plus 388,000 at home. Total service strength is some 2,600,000, more than 40 per cent on these "front lines."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's time America took a look at itself.

When an African or Asian leader is slain it may be regarded here as the result of a society less advanced than this one. This is an American myth, as Americans have demonstrated once again.

A president and a policeman shot to death and a governor wounded in Dallas and the man charged with the crimes in turn murdered, before he got a fair trial, by a gunman who leaped through police lines to shoot him.

These crimes are a product of the American society where violence and talk of violence, increase as state officials defend federal court orders until troops are called out to stop them.

Yet, supreme achievements of the Western world are supposed to be respect for law, democratic and orderly change in government, a fair trial, and freedom and protection of freedom for the individual man, no matter who he is.

If President Kennedy had been the first president killed in office, it would be awful enough.

It would mean one individual ignoring constitutional and peaceful change in government decided to take the law into his own hands to eliminate an elected leader.

But killing American presidents, or trying to, is now assuming the complexion of a tradition. Four have been assassinated: Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, and now Kennedy.

Attempts were made on the lives of three other presidents: Jackson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman. A gunman shot Theodore Roosevelt after his presidency but while he was seeking re-election.

In that same period of almost 100 years not one British prime minister was assassinated. A madman did kill a prime minister, Spencer Perceval, 151 years ago.

It can't be argued the British are basically different or that among them the percentage of lunatics or discontented are proportionally smaller. They are simply more dedicated to peaceful and orderly government.

As long ago as 1200 B.C. an Egyptian king, Ramses III, looking over his own administration of law and justice, said, "I made the land safe so that a lone woman could go on her way freely and none would molest her."

That's more than the United States can say today. 3,100 years later, even about the safety of its presidents. But the worst criminal, even the killer of a president, is entitled to a fair trial.

Even here in Washington, the nation's capital, there is growing uneasiness about walking the streets at night because of the number of people being robbed, stabbed, shot or dragged into alleys to be raped.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice a presidential candidate and now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, found exactly one month ago, also in Dallas, that not even a man in his position was safe from some violence on the street.

After leaving an auditorium where he made a speech on the 18th birthday of the United Nations, he was surrounded by pickets, one of whom spat in his face. He was hit on the head with a sign carried by a woman.

Stevenson, who has a fine sense of history, freedom and justice, told her: "It's all right to have your own views but don't hit anyone."

Sunday Chief Justice Earl Warren, at a eulogy beside Kennedy's casket, wondered what moved "some misguided wretch to murder the President."

He said: "We do know that such acts are commonly stimulated by forces of hatred and male violence such as today are eating their way into the bloodstream of American life. What a price to pay for fanaticism." He knows about fanaticism. Hate has spilled all over him and the other justices of the Supreme Court for their decisions on the side of freedom and civil rights.

He has been ridiculed and mocked. There have been calls to lynch him and impeach him for "giving aid and comfort to the Communist conspiracy."

Also Sunday former Vice President Richard M. Nixon asked all Americans to "pledge themselves to fight this tendency of hatred and violence we've seen in the last two days. We cannot help but deplore a man taking the law into his own hands."

And Dr. A. Raymond Grant, a Methodist bishop in Oregon, said: "I shuddered when I learned that crowds cheered when Lee Oswald had been killed. God have mercy upon us, that human life has become so cheap and that tragedy has been heaped upon tragedy."

Cards Knot Standings In East NFL

Giants Poleaxed As St. Louis '11' Ties for First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals, a bounce-back bunch trying to prove that youth must be served, have thrown the National Football League's Eastern Conference title scramble into a triple tie with only three games remaining.

Led by the passing of quarterback Charley Johnson and a quartet of defensive specialists with only 10 years of pro experience between them—Larry Wilson, Garland Boyette, Sam Silas and Joe Robb—the Cardinals whipped the New York Giants 24-17 Sunday.

Three weeks ago, New York quarterback Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns and the Giant defense forced the Cardinals to give up the ball four times on interceptions and three times on fumbles. The result was a 38-21 victory over St. Louis.

It was a completely opposite story this time.

Tittle, who had only four passes intercepted in 10 previous games, watched Wilson steal two. Boyette pounced on a fumble that led to the Cardinals' clinching touchdown. And Robb and Silas smashed Tittle to the ground twice in the last two minutes as he brought the Giants within striking distance of the tying touchdown.

The triumph catapulted the Cardinals into a first-place tie with the Giants and Cleveland Browns, who defeated Dallas 27-17. All three teams have 8-3 records. The Browns will be at St. Louis this Sunday while New York is at Dallas.

Pittsburgh's Steelers remained in contention in the East, boosting their record to 6-3-2 by battling the Western Division-leading Chicago Bears to a 17-17 tie. The Bears now are 9-11-2 for the Green Bay Packers, 28-10 conquerors of San Francisco.

In other games, Los Angeles knocked off Baltimore 17-16 on a third period field goal by Danny Villanueva, Tommy Mason cracked over for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter as Minnesota defeated Detroit 34-31 and Washington edged Philadelphia 13-10.

The seven-game NFL program went on as scheduled, only two days after the assassination of President Kennedy, despite protests from some quarters. The crowds were sparse, but attendances were not affected.

The American Football League postponed its four-game program.

The National League set an attendance mark by drawing 11,382,233 fans in 1963.

OU Coach Is Jubilant In Winning MAC Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We started our big push with Western Michigan and now we are the champs."

That was the reaction of jubilant Bill Hess after Ohio University blanked Marshall 17-0 to capture the Mid-American Conference football crown Saturday.

The Bobcat coach, elated over the triumph, added:

"Look how they came back from defeat. We got clobbered pretty good by Xavier, but these kids didn't quit. They made up their minds to win and they did."

It was the BIG game in the grid windup for the few Ohio schools that saw action. The death of President Kennedy virtually wiped out half the schedule, though.

The traditional tussle between Ohio State and Michigan at Ann Arbor was rescheduled for Saturday, Nov. 30, and the finale between arch-rivals Miami and Cincinnati was reset for Thanksgiving Day. The Detroit-Toledo game was canceled.

Elsewhere, Bowling Green, although unable to cop an unprecedented third straight MAC championship, finished another successful season with a 26-15 victory over Xavier. Kent State dumped Dayton 23-0 and Youngstown fell to Eastern Kentucky 34-14.

Ohio's decision climaxed a tremendous uphill comeback as the Bobcats won their final three games, all in the league.

And once again, it was a rock-ribbed defense and grinding ground game that turned the trick for the Athens school. Last week, Coach Hess' charges also blanked Bowling Green in a must contest.

Halfback Jim Albert again was the offensive star. He scored his team's first touchdown on a 10-yard run and chalked up 127 yards of Ohio's 257 gained rushing.

That production gave the senior performer from Canfield the conference rushing crown with 612 yards, four better than Marshall's Jack Mahone who picked up 97 in his last effort.

The victory also enhanced Ohio's chances for a bowl bid, possibly the Tangerine Bowl set for Dec. 28. Western Kentucky already has accepted an invitation to play in the Florida classic.

Ohio, copping its third loop title and its first since 1960, finished with a 5-1 record and 6-4 overall showing. Idle Miami placed second on a 4-1-1 mark and Bowling Green third with 4-2-0.

Coach Doyt Perry's Falcons boosted their season performance to 8-2 by taking advantage of two Xavier fumbles.

The first Muskie mistake gave the Falcons a second period score and the second bobble resulted in Bowling Green's go-ahead touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Kent State bid farewell to Coach Trevor Rees with an easy verdict over Dayton. Willie Asbury tallied twice for the Golden Flashes and rushed for 107 yards in 31 carries. Rees' completed a fine career with a 92-63-5 record.

Rusty Hints Around

ANITA, Iowa (AP) — The Eugene Trimble of Anita have a 6-year-old dog. They call him Rusty.

Rusty is fond of milk, and when he doesn't find any in his dish he picks up the dish and bangs it on the floor.

If that doesn't get results, he gets an empty milk carton from the kitchen wastebasket and takes it to one of the Trimbles — just a hint.

MUFFLED DRUMS FOR THE CHIEF — The flag-draped coffin bearing the body of the late President Kennedy moves slowly to the beat of muffled drums up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol where a nation paid its homage.

Dallas Face Smeared on 2 Occasions

DALLAS (AP)—In the space of 48 hours, this sparkling metropolis—while trying desperately to show its best face to the world—was degraded twice.

The first time, authorities said, it was by a ne'er-do-well, self-styled Communist with a mail-order rifle: Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, born in New Orleans, charged with the assassination Friday of President Kennedy.

The second time, it was by a small-time, brawling strip joint owner who killed the Communist despite a police cordon: Jack Ruby, 52, born Rubinstein in Chicago, who took it upon himself to act for the courts Americans cherish and shot down Oswald Sunday.

Dallas reacted with deep grief and shame to President Kennedy's death.

The reaction to Oswald's death was more complex. Some openly said the killing was a good thing. Others, secretly, thought it. But over most the weight of shame settled more heavily.

The burden of conscience became enormous. That it could happen here!

Dallas has a metropolitan population of more than one million. Its big growth came when Northern and Eastern manufacturers began moving their industrial plants to the city.

It is now a cosmopolitan city. But it is, indeed, a citadel of political conservatism at certain levels—just, as a matter of fact, as areas in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Indianapolis.

Pravda, Moscow's organ of the Communist party, overstated the case against Dallas: "All America knows that the most reactionary, the wildest elements... have built their nests precisely in Texas."

But it struck an exposed nerve.

Before the President's visit, Dallas was agonizingly conscious that only a month ago Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was struck with a far right placard and spat upon—and that the new president, Lyndon B. Johnson, and his wife had been spat upon and jostled here in the 1960 election campaign.

For weeks, news stories quoting city leaders, editorials and letters to the editor had urged

Questions and Answers

Ohio U. Branch Program Outlined

EDITOR'S NOTE: Steps to establish an Ohio University Branch at Teays Valley High School have been undertaken by a steering committee in the district. As a promotional effort, members have compiled a series of questions and answers directly concerned with the proposed branch operation for Pickaway County. Prospective student enrollment is considered the key factor in making the plan operational. Members of Pickaway County will become interested if they are familiar with the proposed program. The third installment of questions and answers follows.

Q. What will be the cost per credit hour if a branch is established?

A. Tuition costs will be the same as resident work on the campus. At the present time this is $15 per credit hour.

Q. How much would I save by attending the branch?

A. The cost for two semesters would be about $500 for full time credit. The cost on campus averages about $1,500 for two semesters. The greatest savings are in room and board. Students should be able to save about $1,000 per year by living at home.

What other benefits might I have by attending the branch?

A. One advantage that might appeal to some students is the opportunity to hold a part-time job since evening classes the people to behave, to lay aside bitterness and to welcome President Kennedy as befitted his office. The far right complied.

Then...

"This is a black mark Dallas will never live down," said one resident despairingly. That was the day the President died.

Sunday night...

"This thing is going to tear this town apart," a young woman said.

On a small grassy slope in a small park Sunday were two wreaths. A card on one said: "In memory of our beloved President, John F. Kennedy. From the bereaved citizens of Dallas." The other said simply: "We are all so sorry."

would be scheduled.

Q. If I should send in a form and find later that I could not attend, would I be under obligation?

A. No. We would like an honest indication of intentions as a basis of interesting Ohio University in establishing this branch.

Q. Would parking space be available at the school?

A. Plenty of free parking space is available — about two acres under black top.

Q. What other benefits would accrue to Pickaway County in addition to direct benefits from education?

A. Wherever these branches have been established an economic impact is felt, making real estate more valuable as an example. It naturally makes the community a more desirable place in which to live.

Q. I am a parent but my children are not near college age. What should I do?

A. Try to interest every one you can to enroll in the branch. We need to secure students in the near future if we are to make this a reality by the fall of 1964. Colleges are becoming so crowded that it may be difficult for students to gain admittance.

Q. How may I express my desire to enroll?

A. A blank form is being provided in this newspaper which may be filled out and mailed to Teays Valley High School, Ashville. Or you may call the high

Business Briefs

Harold Marshall of Circleville was honored during a trip Nov. 17-21, awarded to dealership personnel by the John Deere Co. in recognition of outstanding tractor sales achievement.

Marshall, associated with Marshall Implement Co. of Circleville, visited John Deere factories at Waterloo and Dubuque, Ia., and Moline, Ill. He and his wife also attended a schedule of special events held at the three locations.

Marshall was selected for the trip, called "Flite 63", as a result of his contribution to the excellent tractor sales record made by the local firm during the past year.

Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company had common share earnings of $10,479,000 for the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1963, compared with $10,131,000 for the 12 months ended the same date a year earlier.

Harry M. Miller president, said current earnings amounted to $3.74 a share, based on 2,800,000 shares outstanding, compared with $3.62 a share the preceding 12 months.

Operating revenues for the same 12 month period were $67,150,000 compared with $63,540,000, a 6.2 per cent gain. Operating expenses climbed from $48,573,000 in the previous period to $51,507,000 in the 12 months just ended.

Grieving World Shocked By 'Execution' of Oswald

LONDON (AP) — Governments and men and women around the world joined today in mourning services for President Kennedy. Their grief was mixed with shock and astonishment at the assassination of Lee H. Oswald.

They started in the Far East, where Nov. 25 first dawned, and followed around the globe as it turned to the sun.

Only in Communist China was there no official observance of the President's funeral. The Chinese Reds reported Kennedy's death Friday, but have made no comment on it. Sunday, however, they assailed President Johnson, saying he supported reactionary policies under Kennedy.

Thousands of American soldiers attended memorial services in South Korea. Most of the 50,000 GI's were taken off duty to observe the day of mourning and attend the services.

Japanese Emperor Hirohito sent Crown Prince Akihito and Crown Princess Michiko to memorial services at Tokyo's St. Ignatius Church. The government ordered the Japanese flag flown at half staff over all government buildings today and Tuesday.

At U.S. bases throughout Japan the big guns roared final salutes over the heads of 50,000 servicemen and their dependents, assembled in a cold rain.

Most of the 10,000 Americans on Formosa attended religious services for the President. Thousands of Chinese from all walks of life joined them. Nationalist China's flags also were at half staff.

But much of the atmosphere of sorrow began to be tinged with disquiet that the assassin had been at least associated with the Communist party.

Communist propaganda organs reacted immediately to the news of Oswald's killing with charges that he had been slain to cover up the real authors of Kennedy's assassination. The Red press and radio attributed both killings to extreme right-wingers.

The Italian tricolor flew at half staff for the third day, and unions throughout Italy scheduled five-minute pauses of respect for the dead American.

and President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan attended a memorial service at the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi. Then Nehru drove to Parliament to eulogize Kennedy. Both houses adjourned after members stood in silent homage.

Westerners in Moscow paid their respects to Kennedy's memory at Protestant services at Spaso House, residence of U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler, and at Catholic rites at the Soviet capital's one small Roman Catholic church, St. Louis le Francois.

In Poland, flags were at half staff on all official buildings, and the government radio and television stations played appropriate music.

Dancing was banned in night clubs and restaurants and theaters canceled their entertainment.

The Allied garrisons in East Berlin attended memorial services at the U.S. headquarters. Officials of the Berlin city government also were present.

Thousands of Berlin citizens continued to flock to the U.S.

MUFFLED DRUMS FOR THE CHIEF — The flag-draped coffin bearing the body of the late President Kennedy moves slowly to the beat of muffled drums up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol where a nation paid its homage.

Dallas Face Smeared on 2 Occasions

DALLAS (AP)—In the space of 48 hours, this sparkling metropolis—while trying desperately to show its best face to the world—was degraded twice.

The first time, authorities said, it was by a ne'er-do-well, self-styled Communist with a mailorder rifle: Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, born in New Orleans, charged with the assassination Friday of President Kennedy.

The second time, it was by a small-time, brawling strip joint owner who killed the Communist despite a police cordon: Jack Ruby, 32, born Rubinstein in Chicago, who took it upon himself to act for the courts Americans cherish and shot down Oswald Sunday.

Dallas reacted with deep grief and shame to President Kennedy's death.

The reaction to Oswald's death was more complex. Some openly said the killing was a good thing. Others, secretly, thought it. But over most the weight of shame settled more heavily.

The burden of conscience became enormous. That it could happen here!

Dallas has a metropolitan population of more than one million. Its big growth came when Northern and Eastern manufacturers began moving their industrial plants to the city.

It is now a cosmopolitan city. But it is, indeed, a citadel of political conservatism at certain levels—just, as a matter of fact, as areas in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Indianapolis.

Pravda, Moscow's organ of the Communist party, oversteated the case against Dallas: "All America knows that the most reactionary, the wildest elements...have built their nests precisely in Texas."

But it struck an exposed nerve.

Before the President's visit, Dallas was agonizingly conscious that only a month ago Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was struck with a far right placard and spat upon—and that the new president, Lyndon B. Johnson, and his wife had been spat upon and jostled here in the 1960 election campaign.

For weeks, news stories quoting city leaders, editorials and letters to the editor had urged

Questions and Answers

Ohio U. Branch Program Outlined

EDITOR'S NOTE: Steps to establish an Ohio University Branch at Teays Valley High School have been undertaken by a steering committee in the district. As a promotional effort, members have compiled a series of questions and answers directly concerned with the proposed branch operation for Pickaway County. Prospective student enrollment is considered the key factor in making the plan operational. Members of Pickaway County will become interested if they are familiar with the proposed program. The third installment of questions and answers follows.

Q. What will be the cost per credit hour if a branch is established?

A. Tuition costs will be the same as resident work on the campus. At the present time this is $15 per credit hour.

Q. How much would I save by attending the branch?

A. The cost for two semesters would be about $500 for full time credit. The cost on campus averages about $1,500 for two semesters. The greatest savings are in room and board. Students should be able to save about $1,000 per year by living at home.

Q. What other benefits might I have by attending the branch?

A. One advantage that might appeal to some students is the opportunity to hold a part-time job since evening classes the people to behave, to lay aside bitterness and to welcome President Kennedy as he fits his office. The far right complied.

Then...

"This is a black mark Dallas will never live down," said one resident despairingly. That was the day the President died.

Sunday night...

"This thing is going to tear this town apart," a young woman said.

On a small grassy slope in a small park Sunday were two wreaths. A card on one said: "In memory of our beloved President, John F. Kennedy. From the bereaved citizens of Dallas." The other said simply: "We are all so sorry."

Grieving World Shocked By 'Execution' of Oswald

LONDON (AP) — Governments and men and women around the world joined today in mourning services for President Kennedy. Their grief was mixed with shock and astonishment at the assassination of Lee H. Oswald.

They started in the Far East, where Nov. 25 first dawned, and followed around the globe as it turned to the sun.

Only in Communist China was there no official observance of the President's funeral. The Chinese Reds reported Kennedy's death Friday, but have made no comment on it. Sunday, however, they assailed President Johnson, saying he supported reactionary policies under Kennedy.
